DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR GAME PAK HAS BEEN?

Rex really wanted to play. It's too bad the first thing he found was your favorite Game Pak. He slobbered all over it! Sure, he could have gone for his plastic doggie bone, but nooooo... he just had to have the game. Don't worry. All is not lost. You have your NES Cleaning Kit. You'll want to clean off the contacts before using this game again. Be thankful you stopped him before he had a chance to really destroy it. Then you would have had to take it to a Nintendo World Class Service Center to have it repaired. You need to take care of your games. Looks like you need to play with your dog more, too!

Take care of your games with Game Boy,

POWER MAILBAG

I live in Miami, Florida and I have been a Nintendo fan for over four years. Last Christmas, I got a Super NES and was very amused. I have eight games and my favorite game is Street Fighter II. Unfortunately, last month we were hit by hurricane Andrew and lost our house and almost all of our possessions. The night of the hurricane we stayed inside the car which was in the garage. When it was finally over I went inside the house and looked around for anything that was salvageable. After about an hour of looking I was hunting around the downstairs stereo and there was my Super NES tangled in a pile of wires. When I took it out of the wires and looked at it, all that happened was a scratch on the controller. When I brought it to my cousin's house in Coral Springs it worked fine. I can see why they call it a "Super" Nintendo.

George Sanchez
Miami, FL

.....

The Trading Cards are great! First of all, they're a lot of fun to collect. Secondly, most of the challenges on the back of the cards are fun to try. Last, but certainly not least, they give you the opportunity to win great games. Hey, what could be better than free games? However, I do have a question about them. Can I use the cards that I have collected from previous issues in the coming months if they match the winning combination? I hope I can!

Jeremy Daniels
San Antonio, TX

Very good question, Jeremy. Yes, you can use the Trading Cards that you've collected from your previous Nintendo Power issues. The only requirements for winning a free Game Pak are that you send in the correct combination of three Trading Cards and send them in before the deadline for that month's contest. Thanks for the letter and keep collecting those cards!

I'm not sure if I agree with your rating system in Now Playing. Especially for the Super NES games. I've seen a score of 4/9! Granted, A Link to the Past is great, but what happens when better games come out? Aren't you going to have to adjust your ratings of the games you've previously reviewed? And with the CD necessary on the horizon, I mean, come on! Today's ratings won't mean a thing. Let's see some realistic ratings!

T.J. Sheldon
Boston, MA

Well, T.J., it's also very apparent to us that games will improve in the future. Our rating system is designed to let you know how good we think a game is based on today's standards. Each game is compared to all other games being evaluated during the same time period.

I'm a Final Fantasy fanatic and I heard that Final Fantasy III isn't going to be coming to the U.S. WHY NOT?? They already have Final Fantasy V in Japan! I want more Final Fantasy!

Peter Barnes
Portland, OR

Square Soft, the company responsible for the Final Fantasy series, is considering bringing Final Fantasy III to the North American market. If they do produce it, it's likely to be based on the Japanese version of Final Fantasy V. Also, Square Soft has more Final Fantasy projects going on now. If you would like your opinions about the Final Fantasy series to be known, use your power of persuasion and send a letter to.

With TRIXTER
TRIXTER

CONTEST WINNER

The crowd roared as the lights went out at the Civic Arena in Pittsburgh and our White Knuckle Scorin' with Trixter contest winner, Debbie Breit and her friend, Lori Bagley, were there. Trixter had hit the stage! The band was opening up for KISS and they put on a great show. Trixter's newest record, Hear, had just been released a couple of days before and the band was obviously excited to let people hear it live! Debbie and Lori were already big Trixter fans having seen the band play before. However, getting the opportunity to spend some time with them is what they'll remember the most. The band members, their management and crew are all great people to know!

"The show's over! Break out the Game Boy!" The contest winners were having fun hanging out backstage with the band after the show. Pictured left to right are drummer Mark Scott, Debbie, singer Peter Loran (blue cap), guitarist Steve Brown, Lori, and bassist P.J. Farley.

Nintendo Fun Center

NINTENDO ROLLS ENTERTAINMENT TO CHILDREN'S BEDSIDES

In May of 1992, Nintendo joined with the Starlight Foundation by donating funds to bring 181 Nintendo Fun Centers to 88 pediatric hospitals nationwide. Nintendo Fun Centers are self-contained entertainment holidays that bring a TV monitor, a Super NES, a library of games and a VCR to the bedside of a hospitalized child. "This donation will bring wide a game entertainment to more than 5,300 hospitalized children each month," said Emma Samms, actress and co-founder of the Starlight Foundation. Nintendo and the Starlight Foundation hope the Fun Centers will make it easier for children to cope with their stay in the hospital.

CYBERNATOR™

21ST CENTURY METAL

TM & © Konami 1992 © ACS Corporation

The 95th Brigade of the Mechanized Marines is looking for a few good pilots. The mission is to crush the Axis forces in their strongholds in space and on Earth. The means is the Cybernator G5-E, the most advanced mobile weapons system ever developed. You'll take on the Axis forces in seven levels of non-stop action. Mission Control aboard the Marine vessel, Versis, keeps you updated, but you're really on your own. Cybernator will challenge Power Players by the variety of game play and blazing reaction speed required. There is no password, so you'll have to practice and perfect your techniques.

CYBERNATOR G5-E

The Cybernator stands five stories high and is armed with four independent weapon systems that equal the destructive force of an army. It can be both a tank and a spaceship as needed. The machine is also equipped with an Ionized Shield and a Propulsion Pak.

STANDING TALL

NORMAL MAN

DEPLOY ALL SUITS NOW!!!

The first battle begins as the Marine Assault Strip, Versas, smashes through the lunar base walls. The commander orders the deployment of the Cybernator Assault Suits. You'll be the third off the ship and come under immediate attack. When messages from the base appear, be sure you read them carefully.

ROGER... ON MY WAY

Only one out of ten recruits survives Cybernator training, which makes you one of the elite forces for the Pacific States. You'll have three chances to prove that you have the mettle to be a mechanized marine... or a smoldering bulk of twisted titanium.

BE CAREFUL!

It's dangerous out there! Enhance your weapons by collecting Power-Ups. Nine P Capsules earn an increase of one power level out of four levels max.

ENEMY OVERLOAD

You'll find giant enemies matched against your Cybernator, and they pack almost as much power. Luckily, they predictably appear in the same places.

In Mission Two, giant space firing robots and more litter the starved field.

INCIDENTAL DAMAGE

Look for great, realistic effects like damage to walls and machines from random fire.

Spore shells fly from the Cybernator's ship.

STAGE 1 LUNAR MINING COLONY

The Axis Lunar Mining Colony is just a front for an immense intergalactic battleship with the power to destroy the Mechanized Marines. The defenses inside the ship consist of robots and plasma cannons—Don't—rush—blindly ahead. When entering a new area, make sure your Vulcan Automatic Annihilation Cannon is reloaded and use your Shield to Nock enemy fire.

MISSION OBJECTIVE

Your mission is to penetrate to the core of the hidden Axis battleship and destroy its power coupling unit before it can be activated.

END-STAGE 1

As the energy core rises up to be loaded into the battleship, it is protected by two plasma cannons. Stay parallel to the core, attacking the bottom section first, then the top as it ascends. After destroying the original cannons, new cannons appear. Destroy them, as well.

Blow the bottom of the energy core first.

Continue following the core upward to attack it.

Once destroyed, the core smashes through the colony.

STAGE 2 ASTEROID DEFENSE FORCE

The ore processing facilities are protected by asteroids and a defense force of robots. Automatic scroll propels you through the Zero G nightmare up to the midpoint. Control in the second half is awkward unless you hold down the Left Button to keep your Vulcan aimed straight ahead.

BOMBARDMENT

Fire continuously straight ahead as you rocket through the field of asteroids. You can blast the smaller rocks, but larger asteroids will destroy your Cybernator with one hit. At the same time you must also dodge the attacks of defensive robots.

DON'T MISS THE MISSILES

The Homing Missiles are your first weapon upgrade. Look for them in the second half of the stage on a large asteroid in the middle of the flight-path. Shoot the grey canister to reveal the Missile Unit.

Pick up the Missile Upgrade

END-STAGE 2

To discover the final threat

MISSION OBJECTIVE

Your mission is to evade the Asteroid Defenses of the ore processing facility, find the Missile Weapon Upgrade, and destroy the Mobile Artillery Unit at the end.

The Global Threat has awesome defenses

Destroy asteroids and earn Power-Ups

An explosion of asteroids, a barrage of missiles and the Mobile Artillery Unit make a dangerous combination. Stay directly on the boss, firing the Vulcan and dodging. You'll be able to pick up an H Power-Up to boost your Life Meter and you'll avoid the asteroid defense perimeter.

Attack from the safety of this rock.

STAGE 3 ATTACK ON ARC NOVA

In an attempt to open up the "Lunar Route," the Mechanized Brigade must destroy the huge Axis Meteor Fortress known as Arc Nova. First, you must get inside the rock. Then, you'll have to fight to its center.

Fire down at the grey panel and blow from the left.

This stage has some Zee-G fighting.

MISSION OBJECTIVE

Your mission is to break into the Arc Nova and destroy its engines. You'll have to blow up tanks to reach the main hatch.

BLOW THE ARC

Inside, you'll face the Laser Miniboss and the Mechanical Claw. Your Vulcan should be at full power. Stand on the girder and jump to avoid the Claw. Fire continuously, then go for the engines.

A Super Weapon is ready to be launched against Earth.

Look for the two main engines of Arc Nova.

You have two minutes to destroy the Claw and engines.

STAGE 4 ATMOSPHERE ENTRY

The long descent to the surface of the planet is fraught with danger. Besides the fiery heat of re-entry, Axis Cybernators are there to stop you. The aerial battle continues until you reach Earth.

HEADED DOWN DOWN AND OUT

The Versis Battle craft plummets toward Earth, and so do you. Get extra Power-Ups every time you destroy an enemy. When the temperature starts draining energy, plant your feet on the Versis.

The Versis comes down in the mountains, but so does a persistent Axis Cybernator, Granbia, who engages you in battle. Even though you don't destroy him, you'll end the stage.

MISSION OBJECTIVE

Your mission is to take the battle to the leaders of the Axis on Earth. First, however, you must survive the plunge of the Versis to the planet below.

The Versis reaches Earth with your Cybernator unit intact.

STAGE 5 TWILIGHT PURSUIT

Waves of Axis troops are being launched into the air by shuttles from a base in Madagascar as the Axis hopes to rebuild its strength in space. This stage again has multiple parts, both aerial and on the ground.

AIRBORNE

Control airborne drones in this auto-scrolling segment. Watch for both missiles and shots.

Stay in the upper right corner for safety.

GROUND

Grab the Laser upgrade, because you'll need it later. Keep hoofing it to the hangar.

Dodge the missiles outside the hangar.

SHUTTLE BASE

Inside the hangar, look at the map if you take the lower route. There are holes where you can fall and lose a life. Stay at the top, or be extra careful. The giant Mech Mini-boss is in the middle of the hangar. Use the Laser against him for multiple hits.

Zap the Mech with your Laser weapons.

MISSION OBJECTIVE

Your mission is to destroy the shuttle in the hangar before it launches. Don't miss the Laser weapon upgrade on the ground outside the hangar.

THE SHUTTLE

Even with mission failure, you can pass on to the next stage. Attack the engines of the shuttle while dodging enemy fire.

NOT THE END

The Axis has been weakened by your assaults, but it isn't beaten yet. Two more stages are left: the alpine approach to Axis HQ, and the enemy's capital city.

HARLEY'S HUMONGOUS™

Adventure

HARLEY HITS THE BIG TIME

Most of Harley's experiments are successful—his jammin' Jetpack is a case in point. But when something goes wrong with his Shrink Machine, it goes wrong in a big way. Harley ends up small enough to live in a dollhouse, and the insects that were around when the accident happened are mutated. Harley has to retrieve missing parts from the mutant insects and use them to rebuild the machine and reverse the shrink ray. This latest small-person-in-a-huge-world adventure is from Hi-Tech Expressions, and while the concept is nothing new, this one has solid play control and some twists that make it interesting to play.

45 SECONDS TO POWER-UP

Harley's Humongous Adventure begins with a 45-second romp through the lab, where you can pick up as many Power-Up items as you can find in the time allowed. There are no active enemies—except the burner flames—so try out all of Harley's moves as you Power-Up and rack up bonus points.

HARLEY'S
HUMONGOUS ADVENTURE

1 LOAD THE NAIL GUN

In the early stages, a Nail Gun is Harley's primary weapon. In order to use it, you must find a supply of Nails. With the loaded gun, you can attack enemies overhead and those approaching from the side.

Stock up on extra nails for the gun.

2 FUEL THE JETPACK

You'll find your first fuel supply in the lab. With your Jetpack powered-up, you can Press X to fly up and investigate areas that you can't jump or climb so. Use it sparingly, though. You earn bonus points for unused fuel at the end of a stage.

Refuel the Jetpack with Fuel items.

3 GET SOME AIR

Try to keep a supply of Air at the ready. It allows Harley to swim in liquids, including the bubbling beakers so the lab. Without the Air supply, he sustains significant damage when he tries to take a dive. Find his first air in the lab.

Get some air and breathe under water.

4 HAVE A HEART

Harley loses half a Heart for every hit he takes, so keep him healthy by finding Heart Icons, which add to his Life Meter. Some are in plain sight and are easy to get, but others are hidden in areas that you'll find only by using the Jetpack.

Find Heart icons to refill Harley's Life Meter.

5 GATHER NUTS

It's going to take lots of Nuts and bolts to put the Shrink Machine back together. Each of the Nuts you find is worth bonus points at the end of the round.

MAYBE YOU CAN

Harley heads for the Kitchen in Stage 2. It's a dangerous place for someone Harley's size, especially since the mutant insects are trying to flatten him with canned goods. The Machete Part he's looking for is on the lower left, but he can power-up between his starting point and the goal. Be sure to pick up insecticide on the way.

1 RING THE BELLS

If Harley manages to ring the bells he comes across he'll be able to restart from there if his Life Meter expires later in the stage. You have to actually ring the bell—don't just walk by and assume that simply touching the bell is good enough.

3 DON'T GET CANNED

When you reach the ramp, watch out for steam-rolling cans. You can tell that they're heavy—the whole screen rocks when the cans roll. Listen to hear when they're near, then leap as they enter from the right. Watch overhead, though, you don't want to leap into a flying mutant bug.

Yes, overhead before you leap over a rolling can.

GOAL

TAKE A TANK

From the Tank, Harley can fire in all directions.

STAGE 3

TANKS A LOT

In Stage 3, Harley takes to a Tank. Children's toys that seem safe enough are dangerous to a tiny scientist. Watch out for bouncing balls, super sharp jacks, and stacks of Lego-like blocks. Pound them with ammo and jump to clear gaps.

2 INVINCIBLE INSECTICIDE

Get even with those pesky mutant insects. Leap all the way over to the right and land on the shallow ledge. Pick up the Insecticide there to make Harley invincible. It surrounds him in a protective gas, and any insect he meets is instantly terminated. The effect is short lived, though, so make tracks while the invincibility lasts.

HARLEY'S
HUMONGOUS ADVENTURE

Grab the spray can and seal real insects.

4 FUEL UP

This shelf is a safe spot. The cans keep rolling overhead, but you'll be sheltered as you pick up icons, including Jetpack Fuel. Conserve as much fuel as possible for a bonus.

Fill up on bonus points by loading Jetpack fuel.

PLAYROOM PRANKS

Use the Tank's cannon to blast away at the bouncing balls. Sometimes walls of blocks will block the way. You can jump low walls—blast higher ones out of there before the scrolling screen leaves you behind.

Blast and jump to avoid the bouncing balls.

If you can't jump the Lego wall, use the cannon.

THE CLOSET

Harley's closet is a mess. It's much bigger than the previous two stages, and you'll have to explore many levels. Talk about dirty carpets—this one is crawling with mutant bugs. Ride block lifts and leap to even small blocks to find openings to new areas. Wind your way up, down and around to discover lots of Power-Up items.

2 SCALE THE WALLS

Take a leap of faith off this ledge. It doesn't look like there's anything down there, but go explore to find Nuts and Power-Ups. To get back up, face the wall and press X. You'll scale the wall as if you were wearing suction cups.

3 DON'T LOSE YOUR MARBLES

You'll find a new weapon in this stage: Marbles. Toss one out and watch it bounce along, clearing enemies in your path. You can also press Up to throw Marbles at flying enemies. Switch weapons by pressing L and R.

Who's down there? Take a leap to find out.

Collect the Power-Ups down in the corner.

Jump up to get the Marble back.

Squish approaching insects with a Marble.

The insects get weirder and weirder as you navigate through Harley's closet.

4 RAID THE RUG RATS

Here's a carpet in need of a good cleaning. Creepy-crawlies are living in the shag, and they're the most monstrously mutated enemies yet. They pop up almost unannounced, so have a Marble at the ready if you plan to continue on this level.

1 PUT ON A PARACHUTE

Now for a new mode of transportation. When you reach the right side of the ledge, put on the parachute and take a leap off the edge. Float from side to side and collect the Nuts for lots of bonus points, then continue down the ramp to the right.

HARLEY'S
HUMONGOUS ADVENTURE

Put on the parachute and gather Nuts for a bonus.

CLEANING THE REST OF THE HOUSE

To find the rest of the stolen Shrink Machine parts, Harley has to continue working his way through the house, searching remote areas and battling the mutant insects. It's a humongous task.

Harley finds an explosive new Firecracker weapon when he searches through the boxes.

The big bosses in the areas to come are big trouble.

WING COMMANDER™

As humanity spreads through the galaxy, it faces an implacable foe, the Empire of Kilrah. Can one rookie pilot make a difference in the war? Wing Commander from Mindscape lets you answer that question.

THE ORIGINAL STAR FIGHTER

Wing Commander has gained renown in the PC gaming community as one of the best 3-D dogfighting simulators ever. But the popularity of this game is not based solely on the realistic space combat. There is an entire universe here, from crew mates to technology and friendly alien races. And there is the story of the Terran Confederation's desperate struggle. The cinema scenes aboard the Tiger's Claw are based on your actions in combat. Out in space, you can communicate with allies and enemies, giving commands or insults as you see fit.

More than a dozen combat zones make this an epic.

Each of four fighters have a 3-D cockpit view.

Dogfighting tactics require quickness and strategy.

Animated scenes make you a character in the story.

WHAT EVERY ROOKIE

Wing Commander is as much a game of strategy as it is of skill. As it begins, you find yourself in the officer's club aboard a starship. Information is the key to survival, so start listening to fellow crew members.

WHO?

You are a rookie fresh out of the academy and itching for a fight. You have never even seen the enemy, much less had to fly tactical combat missions.

WHERE?

The Tiger's Claw, an interstellar carrier ship of the Terran Confederation, is on patrol in the Enyo System where there have been recent incidences with the Kilrathi.

WHAT, WHY, AND HOW?

Piloting a one-man fighter, you'll be sent on scouting missions, escort duty, and raids to harry the "hairball" Kilrathi. The enemy gives no quarter, and neither can you.

OKIE MUST KNOW

NAVIGATION POINT

Navigation Points, or Nav Points, are your destinations during a mission. Sometimes there is a goal at the Nav Point, like an ally freighter. At other times, the Nav Point is simply part of a route.

DANGER ZONE

Asteroid belts disrupt missions in a number of ways. Asteroid warps work in a "bait." You have to dodge rapidly approaching rocks. And finally, you may have to take a longer route around the Asteroids.

HOME BASE

The Tiger's Claw is your home base in deep space. If damaged in combat, return here to save your ship. Mission briefings, training, and cutscenes are held here. You'll also meet your fellow pilots aboard.

When you are switched to the Map Display, you can select a target destination. Expect a slight delay before the change is acted by the game. Use Asteroid to reach the Nav Point quickly and engage any Klibby pirates.

DANGER ZONE

Some asteroids are made of metals that are invaluable to your armaments. Sometimes you can't avoid passing through such a belt. Make sure that your Shields are fully regenerated before entering the quadrant.

MISSION IMPROVISATION

Although it is best to carry out your missions as specified, you aren't required to complete any or all of the elements. If you are in danger of losing your ship after a skirmish, return to the Tiger's Claw. You can even quit and be rescued.

The commander may question your performance after an altered mission.

Asteroid won't get you out of an Asteroid Belt.

COMBAT TACTICA

SEARCH TO DESTROY:

The Radar Display may be the most valuable instrument on board your fighter, but it isn't always easy to use. You won't be able to disengage from the Kiltrathi until either you destroy them all or eject to save yourself. So while a red dot remains on the radar, you have work to do. Think of the Radar Display [A] as a 3-D cone. The Center Ring is the narrow view forward of the nose of your ship and the Outer Ring is everything behind your nose. For instance, when a hollow red dot appears on the outer ring, upper left side, it means that a Kiltrathi is nearby, slightly behind, above and to the left of you. If you swing up and to the left, the enemy will come into view. It sounds easy, but at high speeds, the Radar Display can become a flashing nightmare of targets.

WATCH YOUR TAIL

The Kiltrathi always try to ambush Terran pilots if possible. The first situation [B] places you in a trap, with three "furballs" behind and one dead ahead. Your best move is to loop up and circle behind the enemy. Use the Afterburner to boost your speed as you climb through 180°. The second scenario has you pinned in on every side. Any way you turn, you'll run into an enemy. Vary your speed and turn in rapid, 90° arcs until you shake them.

THE FIRST BATTLE

As a new pilot, the most dangerous situation is when you first engage a wing of Kiltrathi fighters. If they come in a wedge formation, don't face them down. Hit the Afterburner and dive, twist or climb. The enemy will break up into two-ship teams that are easier to target. Review the procedures [C] for the actual conflict.

A RADAR DISPLAY

OUTER RING

Indicates a target is behind you. Imagine the quadrants extending into the Outer Ring.

CENTER RING

Indicates targets in your forward field of view.

BLUE DOT

This is your wing man. As Wing leader you are in command.

RED DOT

MIDDLE QUADRANTS

L BRIEFING

FIGHT SMART BY PLANNING YOUR STRATEGY

Practice in the officer's club on the Training Simulator before applying these [D] and other strategies in combat. The Hard Brake maneuver may look simple, but it usually doesn't work because you need the enemy ship to be close behind you. Your radar should indicate a large, hollow dot at the bottom of the outer ring. The real key, however, is to hit the Afterburners as soon as the enemy overshoots you. The Sit 'N Spin technique is good for those times when you can't get a lock on the enemy. Cut your engines and rotate 360° until you spot an enemy, then go for him with Afterburners and lasers blazing.

THE SPECIAL SLIDE ATTACK

Kilrathi ships can track you with extraordinary accuracy, but they do have weaknesses. The first problem they have is with changes in velocity. Use short bursts of the Afterburner and vary engine speeds to throw off their targeting computers. Use the second technique when approaching the enemy head on. The purpose of the Slide Attack [E] is to swing the back end of your fighter around so that you'll end up with a clear side shot at the Kilrathi. Turn 30° away from the direction you want to slide, then hit the Afterburner. At top speed, turn hard toward the enemy. This maneuver is effective, but difficult, and the Kilrathi can't track it.

ATTACKING LARGE TARGETS

Although your crew mates say you can't destroy a large target like a Capital ship with guns alone, it is possible—it just takes repeated runs. The conventional method [F] involves attacking the rear of the ship. Fire missiles before you reach 2000 meters and guns between 1500 and 1000 meters.

STARRING ALEX TREBEK

If you think you're pretty good at coming up with questions for the television program, this is your chance to become a Jeopardy! contestant — in the privacy of your own home. In GameTek's new Super NES version of the popular game show, host Alex Trebek welcomes you and two other guests, either human or computer, to participate in this authentic adaptation. How tough are the answers? Come up with the questions for the answers shown in this review, then compare your responses with the correct ones on page 27. How do you rate?

1 100 POINTS

HE & HIS BAND OF "MERRY MEN" APPEAR IN "IVANHOE"

AND THE ANSWER IS . . .

With 350 categories, Jeopardy! for the Super NES has much greater depth than past video versions, and it's more challenging than before. The graphics are crisp, and Alex Trebek's voice has been digitized into the program. A game takes you through regular Jeopardy! and Double Jeopardy! to Final Jeopardy!, just like the television show does.

THE DAILY DOUBLE

One of the best ways to make your money multiply is to bet big—and come up with the right question—on a Daily Double. One is hidden in regular Jeopardy, two in Double Jeopardy. You may not actually take home the dough playing the video version, but then you don't have to risk feeling foolish on national TV to have fun, either.

SPEED SPELLING

Spelling counts in video Jeopardy. If even one letter is incorrect, your question is counted as wrong. And you have to be quick, too. If the question is long, you'll have to really move to enter the whole thing. To speed the cursor up considerably, press the R Button while holding the Control Pad in the direction you want the cursor to go.

RAPID RINGING

The game displays the question for a few moments, then allows ten seconds for players to ring in. If you know the question, start tapping the A Button even before the ring-in period starts. It will give you the advantage over your rapid-ringing opponents.

JEOPARDY!

In regular Jeopardy, the answers range in value from $100 to $500, and their difficulty tends to increase as their value goes up. Before beginning the round, you have the option of selecting new categories. If you've already seen the categories selected, or if they aren't to your liking, you can select a completely new group

You'll have to make a strategic bet when you reach Final Jeopardy. First, Alex tells you what the category is, then he asks you to place your bet. Take a look at your opponents' totals

The Addams Family™

PUGSLEY'S SCAVENGER HUNT™

MANSION MAYHEM

The creepiest family on the block is back with their second Super NES action game. The first game featured Gomez in the starring role, but this time around, it's Pugsley who gets the nod. Wednesday likes to have a little twisted fun with her husky little sibling, Pugsley. She sends him scurrying and spelunking about the family mansion trying to scrounge up oozy and obscure odds and ends. Wednesday won't tell Pugsley where any of the items are located, but we will! Ocean has created a doozy of a game based on the animated cartoon series! With some creative searching, hidden items can be found in practically every level. Secret rooms abound in this game, too! The game has no time limit, so take the time to explore every nook and cranny in every area.

EN GARDE, ACTION GAME FANS!

En garde is right! Pugsley's Scavenger Hunt is not a game for novice players. It's difficult. To the uninitiated, it can be downright discouraging at times. Don't get us wrong. It's a fantastic game with great graphics, but the extreme challenge factor is something to be reckoned with. Hard core action game fans will love it!

AREA 1

OCTOPUS INK

Pugsley can choose to begin his scavenger hunt in one of four rooms. We suggest starting with the second door on the second floor. The soapy surroundings of this bathroom provide a relatively easy level to begin with. Pugsley will have to avoid going into the water until he is forced to dive in Area 1-7.

AREA 1-1

SWITCH BLOCKS

Pugsley has to hit these Blocks in a specific order to continue onward. A displeasing sound will be heard if you hit a Block in the wrong order.

BRING ON THE BUCKS!

If Pugsley touches the Question Mark here, a payload of bucks will be released from the ceiling. Don't ever stand on the Blocks. They'll quickly crumble away.

AREA 1-2

T01-3

JUMPING FOR DOLLARS

It takes precise, accurate tapping on the B Button to make Pugsley jump the correct height and distance. You can make him jump a bit farther by holding down the Y Button, as well.

DON'T GET CRABBY!

The Crabs can't be defeated. Pugsley will just have to avoid them by jumping over their pinchers. Red Crabs move faster than purple ones.

A BLOCK FOR A BLOCK

If you go left at the beginning of Area 1-2, you'll find a hidden room. This is the Question Mark you'll need to get in order to exit the room.

THE KEY TO THE EXIT

Pugsley will have to jump up and hit this Switch Block to make an important step appear.

HIDDEN ROOM

AREA 1-4

LET HIM THROUGH

To make these Blocks disappear, hit the Switch Block in the box of Blocks in the upper left corner of the map.

AREA 1-3

VANISHING ACT

All 25 of these Blocks will instantly disappear if Pugsley jumps and hits the Switch Block just above them. Now go to the exit.

SCORE CASH

The Question Mark above these Blocks will make them disappear if Pugsley jumps up and gets it. Drop down and continue on.

AREA 1-5

TRIPLE BLOCK WALL

Pugsley needs to find a Question Mark in order to make each column of Blocks disappear. Check the map and the photos to locate them.

AREA 1-6

CRUMBLIN' AWAY

Don't linger on this stack of Blocks. Go all the way to the last row and crumble away the Blocks to get to the Switch Block.

AREA 1-7

UNDERWATER TREASURE

Swim into this area and explore every nook. A hidden switch will cause eight dollars to appear. This is a great example of why you should search every area to the fullest extent.

WHERE'S THE SWITCH?

The first row of octagonal blocks can be obliterated by finding a hidden switch nearby. The second row will be cleared away by trading water for a few seconds between the spikes.

AREA 1-8

MINE YOUR OWN BUSINESS

As is the case with every mine in the video game world, it pays not to touch them! The underwater mines in this game don't explode, but they are extremely sharp.

ONE WAY TO GO

The mines guide Pugsley to this area's exit. Keep your eyes peeled for moving depth charges. They send shrapnel in all directions when they explode.

AREA 1-9

HIDDEN PASSAGE

This rock formation looks solid, but it's not. Pugsley will have to swim up through it in order to reach the exit.

QUADRAPUS

Swim in a clockwise direction around the Quadrapus while avoiding his tentacles. You'll have to land on his head a total of six times in order to defeat him. You can nail him twice on every lap.

MOLDY CHEESE

The second area that Pugsley should tackle is Lurch's Lair. Climb the rope in the hallway to reach it. Lurch must like explosives because there's plenty of the stuff around! Cannons and gelatinous blobs will explode with their unstable payloads.

AREA 2

AREA 2-1

LOOKS DIFFICULT, BUT IT'S NOT

To get this Question Mark, simply walk through the wall to the left of the Question Mark. Don't jump all the way to the top level. Walk through the wall from the ledge just below the upper level.

TRICKY 1-UP

Pugsley will really have to earn this 1-Up. It involves riding flying bombs, getting two Question Marks and jumping on a TNT plunger. The bombs will destroy Blocks.

BOMB RIDING

Bomb riding can be a headache for Pugsley. The path a bomb travels is changed when Pugsley rides on it. This is the key point to remember. Ride the bombs to cause them to crash into walls of Blocks. When they explode, they'll take out the Blocks.

AREA 2-2

AREA 2-3

COLLECTION SERVICE

In this small room, Pugsley will come across a stash of cash. Run to the right and left on each level to cause the dollar signs to appear.

AREA 2-4

UP THROUGH THE GAP

Pugsley can leap up through an opening to the level where the TNT plunger lies. Jump on the plunger to remove the Blocks.

AREA 2-5

MISSILE MADNESS

Many missiles will come at Pugsley from out of nowhere! Try to stay low to avoid them. Pugsley can also ride the missiles. A truly daring move.

MORE MINES

There are a few mines in this room that can cause serious problems. Be athletic! Jump over or duck and crawl under them.

TO 2-5

AREA 2-6

TAKE THIS EXIT

There is another exit above it, but it will re-route Pugsley back through rooms he has already been to. This is definitely the door to take.

AREA 2-7

TO 2-8

BLOCK WALL BOMBING

More bombs will have to be ridden in this area for Pugsley to gain access to vital Question Marks. Area 2-7 and Area 2-8 can be rather confusing, so study the map and locate all the items and objects that will help you.

AREA 2-8

QUESTION MARK WARP

This Question Mark catapults Pugsley up through the stone wall just above it. Pugsley can now snag a couple more Question Marks to make his way out.

AREA 3

SPIDER VENOM

Spider venom is a complex mixture of proteins and enzymes that can cause a variety of effects on the human body. Some people are allergic to spider venom, which can lead to severe allergic reactions. In other cases, spider venom can cause local tissue damage and pain.

AEROBIZ™

RUN YOUR OWN AIRLINE!

Koei has long been known for their long, drawn-out, rice-buying role playing games like Nobunega's Ambition. Aerobiz is different. It's really fun, it doesn't take an eon to complete and there's not a grain of rice to be found! Just lots of jet planes.

The object is to connect major cities around the globe with commercial flights. Like in the real business world, there are many variables that affect your company's performance. Can your airline survive?

WHERE TO, BOSS?

The balance between opening new routes, investing capital, buying new planes and dealing with rival airlines will keep you busy throughout the entire game. Your company's fate is truly in your hands.

Trips has been chosen as the home base for this particular airline.

You may consult with board members on a regular basis to receive advice and tips.

"This is the Captain speaking. The flight crew would like to welcome you aboard POWERair. Our airline is the industry's best. Please enjoy the ride. Meanwhile, adjust your seatbacks and in the pouch in front of you, you'll find our top-rated in-flight magazine."

FIRST QUARTER

AEROBIZ

What you accomplish in the first three months of operation are critical to your airline's survival. You may choose one of two scenarios and set the difficulty level for the game. Don't be afraid to lay out large sums of cash for equipment. You'll need many planes.

"See if you can handle this scenario."

1983-2015
1-Player game
Tokyo headquarters
Beginner level

OPEN ROUTES

Open routes to the cities that have available slots. Buy short to mid-range jets to cover the routes.

Connect as many cities as you can with profitable planes and routes.

A jet airliner takes off from the Tokyo base on a brand new route.

BUY PLANES

When buying planes, match the needs of your routes to the specifications of the planes. Consider passenger capacity, range, price and fuel efficiency when making purchase decisions. Buy as many Airbus A300's as you can.

Boeing makes superior planes, but they can be costly. Go with Airbus.

The Airbus A300 jet is just what your fledgling airline needs.

Three months after they were ordered, the A300's were delivered.

AIM HIGH

You'll have to spend money in order to make money. Don't skimp with your Repair, Ad and Service budgets. Check them often and keep all three of them above the Average level.

NEGOTIATE

Your airline has hired three managers to handle the task of negotiations for routes to various locations around the globe. It's a very good idea to keep them busy. Don't over-buy slots on your routes. You may end up giving them back and wasting money.

Delta has 14 slots available. You won't need as few slots as you think you need unless Delta becomes one of your hub cities.

The Airbus A300 jet is just what your fledgling airline needs.

Three months after they were ordered, the A300's were delivered.

BUY STOCK

If the battle heats up between rival airlines, a deciding factor in which airline will eventually come out on top is the amount of stock owned. Buy some cheap stock as an investment and monitor the growth of your investment throughout the game. Buy and sell as needed.

Don't buy any AIRFAST stock; go for something much cheaper and more stable like AIRWING. Buy 1000-2000 shares to start.

SECOND QUARTER

Initially, you deployed the planes that were given to you. Now, the A300's that you purchased in the First Quarter have been delivered. Replace the larger, less economical planes with A300's. You'll use the larger planes for longer routes when you open them up. The Second Quarter should end quickly.

THIRD QUARTER

"This is the Captain again. We're encountering a bit of turbulence. Not only here in the air, but in the industry as well. Buckle up for safety."

Your negotiators are hard at work and more routes will be opening up for you to put planes on. You'll want to construct hubs in a few major cities and branch out from there.

OPEN ROUTES

The goal of supremacy in the airline business can't be achieved if you don't connect all available cities. Over time, with shrewd negotiations and careful flight planning, your goal will be realized.

Over time, with shrewd negotiations and careful flight planning, your goal will be realized.

Los Angeles has 11 slots open. This will be an excellent city for a hub.

First, you have to connect Los Angeles with a flight from Tokyo.

If instead you want to open the route! Ensure the fees for a while.

NEGOTIATE AND BUILD

When you decide where to build a hub, you should begin construction immediately. Los Angeles, New York, London and Paris are all excellent choices. Set up one branch office at a time and then establish routes from each new hub.

Don't negotiate with Mexico City until you have a hub in LA or New York.

If you've got the cash, set up a new hub. London is an excellent location!

BRANCH OUT

When looking at sites for branch offices, consider each city's population, economy and tourism ratings. World events like the Olympic games play an important role in the tourism ratings. Wars and harsh economic problems will also play a role in the ratings. Events in the game reflect real world events.

Good news! Now your airlines will be able to fly out of London.

$175 million is a small price to pay for the opportunity to expand.

AEROBIZ

FOURTH QUARTER AND BEYOND

BUILD YOUR EMPIRE

After every quarter, you'll receive an update on the profitability of the airline business. Hopefully, your company will be leading the way. Watch what your competition does and then react to the changes. Remember, if your company falters, you can seek advice from your board members.

Most excellent news! Your company leads the way in the airline business.

"When! There sure is a lot of competition out there in the skies I think I'll just stick to flying the planes and let you deal with the business end of the operation. By the way, we'll be in Hawaii soon!"

SELL STOCKS FOR BUCKS

The AIRWING stock that you purchased is performing very well and is on the rise. If you are in desperate need of funds, you can sell a portion of it or all of it to receive the profits. However, in this case it would be a wise decision not to sell any. In fact, if you have the funds, go ahead and buy more.

FARE ADJUSTMENT

When two or more airlines open up routes between the same cities, a fare war is likely to ensue. Always charge a lower fare than your competitors.

A hub with no open slots isn't going to do your airline much good. Send a negotiator to its open cases.

To increase its lead, JAPANA should lower the fare for the flight between London and New York City.

KEEP IN TOUCH

Along with the quarterly profitability reports, you'll also be kept abreast of important world events and breakthroughs in aviation technology. Everything is based on real world events!

Looks like it's a good time to increase the number of flights to London. Build a hotel there, too!

Technology always pushes ahead. Check out the new airplanes as they are introduced to keep up with it.

Close any open routes to Tehran if war breaks out there. It's very likely to happen. Expect it.

UNSUNG HEROES of the NES

Have you ever wondered if there was a game out there that you may have overlooked? A good game that just slipped right past you while you weren't looking? We're willing to bet that it has happened to most of you. This article deals with NES games that didn't sell nearly as well as we thought they would and the reasons they may not have reached their potentials.

Influences

What influences a person, namely, you, to purchase a video game? It's probably a combination of things. First of all, there's the advertising and marketing efforts. If the TV commercial looks hot, you may be tempted to purchase the game. Does the package appeal to you? Providing that you don't know much about the game, how much can its outward appearance influence you to reach for it and your wallet? Seeing ads in video game magazines really hits home, as well, but, unfortunately, what you see is not always what you get.

Mass people purchased the first Simpsons game, Bart vs. the Space Mutants. Many were disappointed with the odd play control and the overall format of the game. So why did it sell so many copies? Well, for starters, everyone loves the Simpsons. Does this mean that a video game is going to be as good as the TV show? Not necessarily.

How much of your purchase decision is affected by the licensee company's reputation? Are you more likely to purchase a new Capcom, Konami or Nintendo game because of their track records? It's a good bet that the answer is "yes." While this strategy may be fairly safe, sooner or later you'll pass over some great stuff. It takes a little more effort to seek out information regarding less talked about titles, but the results will be worth your while.

There are other sources of information. Reviews in gaming magazines like Nintendo Power give players an opportunity to see what a game is about. Go for a little word-of-mouth information from your friends, too. They won't steer you wrong. Now, what about the influence of a familiar character? Everyone knows they can count on Mega Man and Mario, but how willing are you to take a chance on an unknown video game character? Every hero has to start somewhere!

Advertising, marketing and distribution factors

Large licensee companies can generally afford bigger budgets to promote new releases, but that doesn't necessarily mean that their games are the only games for you. There are many ways to effectively advertise a video game. Television advertising, far and away the most costly method, can reach a tremendous number of potential buyers and also offers an excellent medium for showing off the product. You're probably used to seeing TV ads from companies such as Acclaim, Capcom, Konami and Nintendo for their games. It's common fare. How many times have you seen an ad on TV from a smaller licensee company like American Sammy, Seta or Koei? Can you remember any? The cost of producing a game alone is often enough to deplete a smaller licensee's funds for a project. For example, games like MetalStorm and Vice: Project Doom have no license and low visibility, but what they do have is play value.

Another excellent medium for advertising video games is print. Namely, video game magazines. Remember Kemco's "Shift Happens" advertisement for their racing game, Top Gear? The game sold very well. Granted, it was a good racing game, but F-1 ROC is on the same level as Top Gear, and it hasn't sold nearly as well. According to our Power Meter ratings, it should have been a closer race. We certainly applaud Kemco for coming up with such a creative and very effective advertisement. Bravo!

Another extremely important factor in the marketing of a video game is distribution. You can't buy a product that you can't find. Smaller licensee companies often have difficulty getting their products on the shelves of large retailers. It's likely that a game from a smaller licensee company will have to have a very strong pre-release demand to obtain a spot in the video game displays of retail giants like K-Mart and Wal-Mart. It may take a little detective work on your part to find some of these less talked about games, but in the end, it'll be worth the effort. The games that we'll be discussing here have all been on the market for well over a year. Some of them may be difficult to locate in stores. However, you can always call the licensee companies who produced them. They may be able to help.

Let's take a brief look at several games that may have suffered from a lack of marketing support and lack of good distribution.

MetalStorm by IREM Released: September 1990 Action Password feature

MetalStorm could possibly take the award for the "Unsung Hero" of NES games if there were an award given out for that. Since there is no such award, you'll have to trust us. A factor that contributed to MetalStorm's low profile is that it did not have good distribution. MetalStorm has great play control. It also has very inventive play control. A robot that can manipulate its gravitational orientation is the main character. The best marketing support this game received was when it was featured on the cover of Nintendo Power (Volume 22). The game was also

The M-306 robot character in MetalStorm is very easy to control. It can change its gravitational orientation in mid-air. This makes for interesting play.

The houses in MetalStorm are interesting and diverse. Various attack patterns will have to be executed in order to assault the mechanical obstacles.

given a 12-page feature review in the very same issue. The game is challenging, but not extremely difficult to play. The space/robot theme is a tried and true format, but you have to admit, it does lend itself very well to video games.

Vice: Project Doom by American Sammy Released: November 1991 Action

Here's another game that appeared on the cover of Nintendo Power and was given a 12-page review (Volume 24). The 11-stage sci-fi adventure game had lots of action to offer, but there weren't a lot of stores who offered it for sale. The distribution of this game was anything but great. Unfortunately, American Sammy doesn't have the ability to muscle their product onto the shelves of many major retailers. Another important factor contributing to the game's weak sales statistics is that the game was released several months after it received the magazine coverage. Volume 24 was the May 1991 issue. Oops! When the game was finally released, about half a year later, many people had forgotten about it. This is also approximately the time when the Super NES was being eagerly awaited by many NES owners. Saving up cash for the Super NES was much higher on the priority list than giving a new NES game a try. Getting back into the game itself, the storyline is fantastic. The variety of the stages also makes for an enjoyable play. Next time you fire up your NES, keep this one in mind.

The graphics in Vice: Project Doom aren't anything to write home about, but the play controls are quite good.

River City Ransom by American Technos Released: January 1990 Adventure Password feature

Two major things contributed to the downfall of American Technos' River City Ransom. First of all, the distribution of the product wasn't very good. Secondly, and possibly a more important factor, the game seemed to succumb to competition from other games, namely Double Dragon. It's ironic that Tradewest markets Double Dragon, but American Technos developed it. In essence, they ended up competing with themselves! Recently, they released a new NES title called Crash 'N the Boys: Street Challenge and are busy working on Super NES projects. American Technos did manage to put out a pretty good game when they released River City Ransom. Ryan and Alex, the main characters in the game, are out to clean up the city and the local high school. Good graphics and great fight sequences are high points in this brawling action game.

It looks like Alex is starting to clean up the trash out in front of Cray Town High School!

The competition. Timing is everything!

Kickle Cubicle, Solar Jetman, Little Nemo the Dream Master and Maniac Mansion, all good games, were released in the month of October in 1990. During the same time period, Castlevania III and Dragon Warrior II were released. It was likely that most NES users would have been familiar with Dragon Warrior and the popular Castlevania series, so the follow-up games enjoyed strong sales while the others faltered a bit.

Here's another really good game from Irem that rates fairly high as far as puzzle games go. It's fun for all ages, although the main character, Kickle, has a definite "younger"

It's safe to assume that most people don't go around buying every game they see. They may just get one and then wait until they master it before going back to the store to get another one. That's perfectly fine, but by the time the person finally went back to the store to find another hot title, Dr. Mario, Mega Man III and TMNT II had all been released and the first four games we mentioned here were passed over.

On a similar note, MetalStorm was appeal. The storyline is another one of those "rescue the princess and save the world" kind of things, but if you put those things aside, Kickle Cubicle really shines. The initial levels in the game are easy, but the difficulty level steadily increases throughout the game. New enemies are introduced as you progress, too. A password feature is included and, if your game ends, released in February of 1991. During the same month we saw the release of Adventure Island II, Double Dragon II and Bart vs. the Space Mutants. Unfortunately, Irem's MetalStorm was also likely to be passed over in favor of the titles with more "name" recognition. For those of you who are currently searching high and low for an older NES title, try calling the licensee for some help with your search.

Each stage brings a new key (used for Kickle's enemies and build bridges) to rescue the people trapped in red Dream Baga; you are allowed to Continue as many times as you like.

Solar Jetman

Released: October 1990

Action

Password feature

The play control is what differentiates Solar Jetman from other games in which you have to pilot a spaceship. It's really cool, but if you happen to get a bit overzealous with the boost button, you're likely to get caught up in the gravitational pull of the planet and crash your spaceship. The play control is really touchy, but once players get the hang of it, they're cruising around the 13 planets with the best of

'em! A six-page review in Volume 18 was the extent of the Nintendo Power coverage given to the game. It may have been an oversight on Nintendo Power's behalf not to give the game more space. The game doesn't have much in the way of name recognition, but that fact shouldn't stop you from playing it!

Little Nemo The Dream Master

Released: October 1990

Action

Password feature

To the visionaries who purchased this game when it was first released: Good call! Not many people know about Little Nemo, but more people should. This game is also in the running for the "Unsung Hero" award and could possibly beat out MetalStorm. Seeing that it's a Capcom game should prompt a potential purchaser to investigate a bit further. Check out the review in Volume 18 to see what the adventure is all about. At a glance, Nemo seems to appeal to a younger player, but the level of difficulty certainly is appropriate for more experienced players. It's an excellent game.

This big Gordie is just one of the enemies Nemo can use in his dream quest.

Maniac Mansion

Released: October 1990

The cover of Volume 16 was adorned with the characters and setting for this cool RPG. Final Fantasy may have garnered more attention from RPG fans, but the PC-ish Maniac Mansion, with its weird characters and wacky attitude, certainly deserves a look.

Razor, Saws and Bernard are just three of the characters with which you can choose to attack the evil mad scientist.

Uh-oh! Crazy Nurse Edna has caught Nemo. Check out these high top shoes she's wearing. Weird!

Packaging

Many consumers have laid their trust on the strength of a game by what they can see on the outside of the package. Don't judge a book by its cover and don't trust box art. It can go either way. A poor game can have great box art and a great game can have poor artwork on the package. A good example of this is the first Mega Man game from Capcom. Compared to the packaging from recent Mega Man games, the first one was pretty lame. However, the game ruled. A lot of people now want the original Mega Man game. Capcom re-released the game largely because of consumer demand. Maybe it was initially passed over because consumers weren't compelled to grab it off the shelf and take it to the cash register.

Licensing and character recognition

OK, who would you choose? Little Kevin McCallister from Home Alone or some kid named Mike Jones? If you said "Mike Jones," you're pretty smart and a true Nintendo fan. Home Alone is a very strong seller despite the fact that it isn't an outstanding game. The same can be said for the Simpsons' NES games, too. Everyone knows it's OK—it's natural. However, a poor game with a fantastic license is still a poor game. When making a purchase decision, try to look "past" the license to get to the heart of the game and ask yourself, "Will I really enjoy playing it?" Here are some games that don't feature a popular, licensed character, but nonetheless deserve a closer look.

StarTropics

by Nintendo
Released: January 1991
Adventure

A boy named Mike Jones is the hero of this adventure, but he didn't receive what Nintendo would call a hero's welcome. This game could have been a blockbuster if it had a popular character in the starring role. Mike's yo-yo is the only weapon he has to protect himself for most of the game. StarTropics aptly combines elements of action and role-playing in the adventure. The play control is a bit awkward, but it doesn't take much time to get over that and to get used to it. The action gets fierce for

In this area, Mike confronts Zada, the Prime Evil, for the first time. He'll face her again very soon.

Rockn' Kats

by Atlas Software
Released: September 1991

More inventive play control is waiting for you in Rockin' Kats. The main cat, Willy, is a total no-name character. He's certainly no Chester Cheetah or Tom from Tom & Jerry, but Willy is on the ball and does have some really cool moves at his disposal. His best ally and main weapon is a gun loaded with a retractable boxing glove. The boxing glove also acts as a grappling hook and allows Willy to make some outstanding moves. Rockin' Kats is another game that you may have to search high and low for at various retail locations.

Snake, Rattle & Roll

Released: July 1990
Action

This game lacks a certain degree of visibility. The snake character isn't one that anyone recognizes or would automatically be interested in. The play control is tricky to learn, mostly because the snake moves diagonally, but in actuality, the control is very precise. People who love puzzle and action games should enjoy every level in this game.

Blaster Master

by Sunsoft
Released: November 1988
Adventure

Sunsoft should have stuck a licensed character in Blaster Master. In relation to its release date, the graphics are great! The action switches between side-scrolling stages and stages that have a Zelda-ish view. If you look for Blaster Master in stores and can't find it, you might want to give Blaster Master Boy a try on your Game Boy!

Shadowgate/Déjà Vu

by Kemco-Soike

These two role-playing games generated a huge number of calls to the Nintendo Game Play Counselors. They have many puzzles to solve and you'll often have to retrace your steps, so they're difficult games. The graphics and sound are nothing to speak of, but the value of these games comes in the challenge factor. They can be frustrating for action game fans, but to everyone else, these two games should score high marks!

You make the call!

Don't end up buying a game you won't like. Take some time and seek out sources of information other than TV commercials, box art and packaging information to find out about a game before purchasing it. Check out Nintendo Power for reviews. Give the licensee a call. See if there's an in-store display, etc. Also, speaking of stores, go to many. You'll be able to see more of the games that are available and you'll also be able to find the best prices. Taking these steps will help you to find a game that you'll really enjoy.

Mini Kart Racer

When you are racing in the Mario Kart GP mode of this wild race game, you can shrink and slow down the opposing racers by using the Lightning Bolt. If you're looking for a real challenge, you can shrink your own character and race against a field of giant racers. This code can be entered only when you are racing on one of the Mario Kart GP circuits. At the beginning of the Mario Kart GP, on the Character Select screen, press and hold the Y Button then press the A Button. Your character will shrink in size to less than half of his or her normal size. The mini racer handles better than its normal counterpart but runs the risk of being squashed by the other giant racers. When you are squashed, you will automatically go back to last place and lose most of your coins. If you can win all of the circuits when you are small, you are quite the racer!

On the character select screen, hold the Y Button and press the A Button.

The mini racer handles a little better, but runs the risk of being squashed.

Secret Class

If you're an accomplished Super Mario Kart driver, you can climb into a bigger-than-before racer by revealing the 150cc Class. After you win the Gold Cup in the three standard circuits (Mushroom Cup, Flower Cup, and Star Cup) in the 100cc Class, you will be able to join the race for the 150cc Special Cup. Savor through this circuit and capture the Gold Cup. After the awards ceremony, you'll be able to challenge the other Super Mario Kart racers at the very competitive 150cc Class.

Win the 200 Cup, 150cc Class, in all three circuits, then race for the Special Cup.

After a 150cc winning streak, you can win the Gold in the Special Cup.

After the awards ceremony, you will be able to climb to the 150cc Class.

Anytime you win the 150cc challenge, you can race in the 150cc Class!

New Options

You can listen to the sounds or adjust the controller functions of this puzzler, by accessing an option screen. When the title screen appears, press and hold the Select Button then press the Start Button. A list of three options will appear. The first two allow you to reassign the buttons and their functions on the two controllers. The third option allows you to enter the Lemmings Sound Test Mode.

Press and hold Select then press Start.

You can choose from three options.

Adjust the controls with the "Pad Setting" option.

The Sound Test comes with various tones.

FROM AGENT #832 Double Your Arsenal

Money will no longer be a problem with this great trick. It allows you to make a duplicate of any weapon that you can equip! First make sure that the weapon you want to duplicate is equipped by one of your characters. When it is that character's turn to fight in a battle, select the ITEM option. Select any blank spot on your items list, press your A Button, then select the weapon in your hand and press the A Button again. The weapon should now be on the items list. Press your B Button to return to the battle, then run away. Next, go to the EQUIP option and equip the same weapon that you dropped before. It will split and you will have two of them in your hand! You can sell all the extra weapons for cash.

In combat, select the ITEM option instead of fighting.

Press B while pointing at an empty space in your character's inventory.

Press B while pointing at an item in the same character's hand.

Go back to the battle screen and hold the L and R Buttons to run away.

Immediately choose the Equip option and place the same weapon at your fighter's hand.

During the transfer from the Items list to your fighter's hand, the weapon will split in two!

FROM AGENT #710 Secret Ending

This pirate action game contains many hidden areas and tricks, so you are going to have to explore everywhere. Our agents found a secret exit in Chapter 1, Part 1. From the beginning of the chapter, work your way to the right until you get to the end of the second set of green cliffs. Jump onto the rising platform and ride it up to the next platform. Ride the second platform all the way to the top of the cliff and jump to the left. Work your way left until you see a box down in a hole. When you pick up the box, you will enter the Secret Zone that will lead you to a second exit.

Work your way to the end of the second set of green cliffs.

Ride the platform to the top of the cliff.

Work your way to the left until you see a box in a hole.

Stand next to the box and press the Y Button and you'll enter a Secret Zone.

Fantasy Zone

After you have found the Secret Zone described above, you will be able to find a Fantasy Zone that is filled with emeralds. From the beginning of the Secret Zone work your way right until you find a barrel next to a danger sign. Stand next to the barrel and hold down the Y Button to pick it up and carry it. Work your way to the right holding the barrel and throw it at the first Black-Mask that you see. When you hit him you will be warped into the Fantasy Zone.

In the Secret Zone, pick up the barrel that is next to the Danger sign.

Throw the barrel at the first Black Mask on the bridge.

■ FROM AGENT #323 Easy Time in Mario Land

In this new Game Boy hit, we have found an easy mode that is great for beginners. Some of the areas in the game can be very tricky. If you are having trouble in a particular area, go ahead and reset your game. When you enter the pipe room at the beginning of the game press the Select Button. The words "Easy Mode" will appear in the top right corner of your screen. Pick the pipe that your game is saved on and you will enter the same area you are having trouble with. The only difference will be the number of escutes that will be chasing you. Once you have completed the difficult level, reset again to enter the normal mode of the game. When you restart your game you will begin on the next level.

To enter the Easy Mode, press Select when you are in the Pipe Room.

These are the pipes and must for you to run into in the Easy Mode of the game.

■ FROM AGENT #301 Slow Time Down

During Stage Three of this fast-paced action game, you must rescue one of the Terminators that you have captured. You have about 50 seconds to finish each of the three circuit boards. To give yourself enough time to do the job right, hold down the Select Button while you are working on it. Your time will still run down but at only one tenth of the speed it did before. When you are finished fixing each circuit board, release the Select Button to move on to the next one.

Reviewing the circuitry of the Terminator is a tricky, so work fast.

While you are working on the circuitry hold Select to slow down the clock.

■ FROM AGENT #931 Weird Warp

This code will allow you to join our heroes Rocky and Bullwinkle in some of the later stages of their quest. As soon as you start the game, press the buttons on Controller II in the following order: B, A, A, Start, A, B, B, A. Once you have entered this code, you will warp to another stage whenever you press the B Button on Controller II. You will be invincible when you start playing, but you won't be able to jump anymore. This code is good for previewing some of the stages, but if you want to finish the game, you are going to have to play without the code.

At the start of Controller II, press B, A, A, Start, A, B, B, A.

When you press B on Controller II, you will warp to a different stage.

You will be invincible to the enemies' attacks but you won't be able to jump!

Preview some of the levels, then finish the game without the code.

■ FROM AGENT #627 Special Password

Finishing this classic game for the NES can be very difficult. Agent #627 has sent us her secret for finishing the game with ease. Before you start playing, enter the following password: PAKING PAKING PAKING. You will start in Stage 3-4 with the Sacred Bow, unlimited potions, 75 feathers, 999 hearts and all kinds of other nifty things. With all this great equipment, you should make short work of this game! Good work, Agent #627.

■ FROM AGENT #449 Stage Select

Although this game has been out for a long time, it has a code that eluded our agents until now. Agent #449 was deep undercover when this code was discovered. The code will allow you to take Mickey to any of the later stages in the game. On the title screen hold the Select Button and one of the four directions on the Control Pad. Each direction will take you to a different stage. Keep holding these buttons and press the Start Button to begin the game. The list below shows where each direction on the Control Pad will take you. This is a fun way to skip around in the game and play the stages you want.

UP Castle Stage

RIGHT Ocean Stage

LEFT Woods Stage

If you enter the code on the title screen you can go to any of the stages.

Hold Select and Up and press Start to go to the Castle Stage.

Hold Select and Right and press Start to go to the Ocean Stage.

■ FROM AGENT #921 Frictionless Puck Code

This code is a great way to breath new life in to one of your classic games. When you enter the code, the puck will not slow down until it hits one of the players or someone makes a goal. On the title screen, press the Start Button then select the teams that you want to play with. Make sure that you do not press the Start Button after you select the teams. Hold the A and B Buttons on both Controllers. While you are holding these buttons, press the Start Button on Controller B. When you start playing, the friction will be gone and the puck will go flying around the rink. Try this code out when you are playing against a friend or the computer.

To play with a Frictionless hockey puck, first press Start on the title screen.

Select your favorite teams. Set do not to the Start Button a second time.

Hold A and B on both Controllers then press Start on Controller B.

The puck won't stop unless it hits a player or someone makes a goal.

Disney's DARKWING DUCK

I AM THE TERROR

IN THE NIGHT!

Thanks to Capcom, the winged scourge that pecked at your NES nightmares has now resurfaced on Game Boy. The S.H.U.S.H. Organization (the good guys) is once again in need of the unflappable duck's penchant for punishing criminal perpetrators. F.O.W.L., the Fiendish Organization for World Larceny (the bad guys), has begun looting serious areas of the fair city, St. Canard. This could be an attempt to take over the entire city!

SMALLER, BUT STILL DANGEROUS

The transition of Disney's Darwing Duck from NES version to Game Boy was apparently an easy switch. If you own the NES title, or have played it, you'll already be familiar with this game. The two versions are very much the same. There are a few less enemies and obstacles in the Game Boy adventure, but the story is the same and the stages play almost identically. The NES game was very good, so it logically follows that the Game Boy version is good as well.

We featured the dangerous duck's NES adventure in Volume 36. We were all happy to see Disney's people expect them make his video game debut. However, it's hard to imagine anyone writing a hat that big!

Darwing Duck plays just as hard as Nintendo's small screen format as it did for the NES. That means it's good! The play control is the same.

DUCK MANEUVERS

Very agile, Darkwing can do almost anything... except fly! Maybe he could fly if he took his cape off! Nah! He wouldn't be a superhero without it! Darkwing is very easy to control, very intuitive. You'll soon be hanging from girders and scaling buildings with the greatest of ease!

● ATTACK: DW can and will fire his mighty Gas Gun when the B Button is pressed.

● JUMP: Darkwing's jumping legs are deceptively powerful! Super leaps are a specialty.

● GUARD: When you press Up on the Control Pad, Darkwing lifts his cape to guard himself.

ALL GASSED UP

In order to take full advantage of Darkwing Duck's Gas Gun, you'll need to collect various types of Power-Up Items as you make your way through the stages. Press the Select Button to view the status of your Gas Gun.

● HEAVY GAS: Two blasts (one to the right - one to the left) will explode from the Heavy Gas cloud when it drops to ground level.

● THUNDER GAS: Two units of Gas will be consumed by firing a Thunder Gas shot. Two lightning bolts will blast out at 45 degree angles.

● ARROW GAS: The power of Arrows can be used to defeat one enemy, but they can also serve as temporary steps. A little useful!

BILLED COLLECTOR

Power-Up Items abound in this game. The fearless duck will need them... badly! He can only take four hits before losing a life. The First Aid Kits will be the most important items to find.

● HEALTH & 1-UP: Finding Large and Small First Aid Kits restores DW's health, but the 1-Ups are a real treat!

● DIAMONDS & GOLD: DW will get 100 points for each Diamond and 500 points for each stack of Gold Bars.

BONUS STAGES

"GO" signs will appear in certain out-of-the-way areas. Grabbing these will take Darkwing to a Bonus Stage filled with valuable Bonus Items.

Shoot the containers to release the Bonus Items hidden inside. Now go get that O' Feathered Gas!

The Bonus Stages provide an excellent opportunity to build up your supply of Gas. Go for the big one!

ST. CANARD IN PERIL!

THE NEW BRIDGE

Its construction recently completed, the New Bridge is in danger of being overrun by F.O.W.L. Darkwing can begin his assignment on the New Bridge, at City Center, or the Underpass. We recommend starting on the New Bridge. The terrain is not too terribly tricky. D.W. will have to grab on to some hooks to help himself along.

Jump up and grab on to this lever. It will create a beam to fall. Now Darkwing can use it as a step to get up to the next level.

CITY CENTER

Wolfduck and his crazy cohorts are on a rampage through City Center. Darkwing's second mission should lead him here. After briefing him on the circumstances, Launchpad will drop D.W. off to do some bad guy busting. When you see a Balloon, jump on the pump next to it a few times to inflate the air-borne transport.

The riding and precocious Balloon (going) are all part of a crime fighter's job.

QUACKER JACK

Quacker Jack will only be able to hurt D.W. if they come in contact. The real danger when confronting Quacker Jack is his friend who rains banana peels down on Darkwing. Keep moving to avoid the peels and jump to Jack's level to nail him with gas blasts.

Sneak up behind Quacker Jack and fire at him.

WOLFDUCK

When the moon comes out from behind the clouds, the normally scrawny Wolfduck mutates into a monstrous form.

Avoid or shoot the boxes he tosses at you. Blast the little Wolfduck with Gas when the moon is shrouded.

THE UNDERPASS

The Underpass is very sewer-like. Here, you'll encounter strange beasts who thrive in the dark. Blobbush, slimy creatures will be detected if Darkwing grabs on to one of the overhead light bars. The "GO" sign is in a strange location in The Underpass. D.W. will have to drop down to a lower pipe to uncover its location.

LIQUIDATOR

The slimy goop on the floor in Liquidator's hair won't harm the caped one, but Liquidator will cause several blasts to rise up from the slime to annoy D.W. Shoot Liquidator only when he "un-slimes" himself.

"No! No! A light bar! I'll just use my amazing flying, uh, jumping powers to turn the lights on for a second!"

THE TOWER

The Tower is tall, but Darkwing Duck's elevated powers and powers of elevation will propel him straight to the top of the heap! Jump to the levers to lower a chain to help you.

THE WAREHOUSES

The main enemies in The Warehouses are Genes. When they come out of their lamps, crouch down and blast away at the lamps to evict them. Hanging from light fixtures is routine.

THE WOODS

The Woods was a peaceful place before F.O.W.L. turned things foul. Now the inhabitants of The Woods consist of some seriously fierce critters. We're betting that Bushroot has something to do with the problem. Get him!

F.O.W.L. HEADQUARTERS

After thoroughly trouncing Steelbeak's detestors of doom and destruction, Darkwing will have the opportunity to go after the metal-tipped chicken himself. Steelbeak has stocked his ship with many well-trained buddies, so fasten your cape, Darkwing!

The best Bonus Area should not be missed! Fill up on a bag of Bonus Items.

MOLIARTY

Moliarty is running all over the place in his Tower laboratory. He's building some sort of new machine, but he's definitely up to no good. When D.W. shoots at the fiend, Moliarty will toss one of his wrenches. Be prepared to jump immediately after firing some Gas.

Blast the floating part of Moliarty's machine. He'll come to life. Now, blast that Gas.

DARKWING DUCK

MEGAVOLT

This charged-up boss is relatively easy to defeat. Don't use any of your Special Gasses on him. Regular Gas Gun shots are just what Darkwing needs to unplug this hazard.

BUSHROOT

Possibly the skinniest boss in history, Bushroot doesn't appear threatening, but don't let his appearance dupe you into believing he's not to be taken seriously! Drop to the ground to avoid the plant's shots.

SPOT™

ADVENTURE

Spot, the famous 7-Up dot, jumps off the familiar aluminum can and into Game Boy this month in The Cool Adventure by Virgin Games. How cool is it? Well, Spot is a fun character and he finds some interesting modes of transportation, such as a Jet Pack and a Spaceship in addition to various boats, lifts, clouds and moving platforms, but enemies and attack techniques are standard fare.

FIZZ OR FIZZLE?

PLAY CONTROL

Spot has a great Duck Jump that can send him soaring clear off the screen, depending on where he jumps from. When it comes to leaping, he has to be spot-on, though—the control is pretty touchy. Use his quick duck to dodge flying enemies.

CHALLENGE

There are no mid-stage continues, so you must restart from the beginning of the stage when your Health Meter expires. The repetition becomes tedious in short order, but it does make you master each stage before you move on to harder ones.

PATH SELECTION

Before you start, you can choose either the Easy or the Hard path. If you select the Easy one, you'll start with extra Hearts in your Health Meter. On the Hard path, you must finish each stage within four minutes or forfeit a Spot.

X MARKS THE SPOT

SPOT: THE COOL
ADVENTURE

The object of the game is to finish all stages, but you can't do so without using Blocks, replenishing Hearts, and collecting Spots. Find extra Spots and Hearts to earn extra lives; use Blocks to attack enemies

BLOCKS

When he's standing next to or on top of the Blocks Spot can earn points by picking them up. He can also throw them to take enemies out.

SPOTS

Spot can earn Cool Points by picking up the silver Spots he sees. Each is worth 125 points so it's worth the effort to grab them all. When you collect 100 Spots you'll earn an extra life.

HEARTS

For every 1st Spot taken, he loses one Heart from his Health Meter. Refill the meter by picking up the Hearts you find in various areas.

HEART BONUS

In the Knows Stage, hop on the lever in the floor to open and close the gates and trap the little Roaring Hearts at the top of the screen. For every Heart trapped you earn a Heart for Spot's Health Meter.

CARBONATED FOREST

There are three stages in the area known as the Carbonated Forest, and you must clear each before you can move on to the UnCola Mountains and the regions beyond. This is the easy part, where you can meet your enemies, learn to leap and hone your throwing skills.

The mini trampolines are one of the fun discoveries Spot makes in the first stage of the Carbonated Forest. A good bounce sends him off the screen.

These ledges are only temporary. You can land on them, but don't pause or they'll fall away.

You won't be able to reach the log overhead with the normal jump. You have to use the Duck Jump.

UNCOLA MOUNTAINS

The UnCola Mountain region is also a three-stage area. You'll be at the top of the world when you scale these peaks, and you'll use the Clouds for transportation. Learn to flip Switches that control the Conveyor Belts you come upon, and try throwing Platforms onto the belts.

If the Conveyor Belts in the UnCola Mountains aren't going your way, flip the Switches to see what effect they have on the belt's movement.

Sometimes you'll have to leap over the gaps in a series of the moving Conveyor Belts.

Carry Platforms along with you and throw them onto Conveyor Belts or you'll have a safe ride.

ALLEN 3™

They're back, they're meaner, and there are more of them on this planet of acid doom! In this super sci-fi thriller from LJM, Ripley must survive and eliminate a whole planet of blood-thirsty Aliens. But with very little help and even fewer weapons, she'll have to think fast in order to destroy them before they destroy her. Will this third encounter be her final meeting with the Aliens? Can they be stopped?

ACTION/RPG AND THEN SOME

Complexity

This prison was built for maximum security. Unfortunately, the long corridors, steel barriers, and coded locked doors only hamper Ripley's efforts to eliminate the Aliens. Use the sub-screen map to find your way around, but proceed cautiously.

Mega-Hit Movie

Experiencing the horror in the theatre may have been bad enough, but now you can play alongside Ripley as she follows a similar plot to the mega-hit movie. Several new areas have been added to make Ripley's task more difficult as well.

One Perspective

Because the planet Fiorina "Fury" 161 was intended to house a large population of criminals, the maze of corridors and buildings seem to go on forever. Will you be able to hunt all the Aliens down in this massive network of buildings?

THE STORY BEGINS . . .

ALIEN 3

Stranded on an isolated and abandoned maximum security planet, Ripley finds herself as the only surviving human member of her crashed starship.

Alone and dazed, Ripley is suddenly shocked back into reality when she finds out that she has landed on a planet full of Aliens. Now, not only is she trapped on this planet, but her own worst nightmare has returned! In order for her to survive this infested planet of acidic doom, she must eliminate each and every one of the Aliens. She's battled them successfully twice before, can she defeat a whole planet of blood-thirsty Aliens a third time?

WEAPONS

Although you may not see these weapons used in the movie, Ripley definitely will need them to defeat these Aliens. Search for the Cattle Prod, Knife, or other helpful weapons to help her in her battle.

Flame Thrower Smart Gun

The flame thrower is the best weapon to use in tight quarters. It's also the only weapon that can be used to destroy the Alien's eggs.

Deadlier than the other weapons, the Smart Gun can blast enemies on the other side of the room, but is much harder to use and get.

INVENTORY

Because this is a maximum security prison, you'll have a tough time finding useful items to battle the Aliens. Find the Key Cards first, so that you can find all the weapons necessary to defeat the Aliens.

Key Cards Map

There are three types of Key Cards hidden inside passage ways and rooms. Find them so that you can move freely from room to room.

Because the base is quite large, use the map and magnification feature to help you locate areas that you may not have explored yet.

VENTILATION SYSTEM

Ventilation systems are used as passageways from one area of the base to another. Avoid disaster by switching off the fans, and be sure to explore all areas of the ventilation system so that you locate every exit.

Doors

To enter a locked room, locate the Card Key with the same number as the door and you'll be allowed access to that room.

Fans

The ventilation systems can be deadly if the fans aren't turned off.

ALIENS

In order to insure your survival, you'll need to eliminate every one of these Aliens. Full grown Aliens can kill you in an instant while infant Aliens will inflict serious damage. Will you be their next victim?

SPACE CADET

Welcome to the madcap adventures of a couple of space cadets, Captain Ren Hoek and Cadet Stimpy! Their 9,999-year mission is taking them to the outer extremes of the known and unknown universe. Who knows, maybe they'll find intelligent life. Maybe they'll find intelligence! Maybe not. THQ has brought Nickelodeon's twisted comical duo to the Game Boy screen. Always in character, Stimpy messes things up by cutting Ren's spacewalk short when he detaches his lifeline. So begins the adventure. Space Cadet Adventures is not a very difficult game, but the appeal of the characters, along with good play control, makes for a fun experience.

HAPPY HAPPY! JOY JOY!

Not only do you get true-to-form graphics, you also will enjoy the wacky storyline that's truly befitting of the Ren & Stimpy Show. Also enjoyable are the character's voices. Stimpy will shout "Oh, joy!" and Ren occasionally utters "You eediot!"

POWDERED TOAST QUEST

Cans of Powdered Toast will appear throughout each stage. You'll come across Slices of Toast, too. Grab them! You'll need to collect cans of Powdered Toast to be able to play Muddy Mudskipper's game of chance. Slices of Toast restore lost energy.

THE ADVENTURES OF CAPTAIN HOOK AND CADET STIMPY

On day 675 of Ren and Stimpy's vital mission, Captain Ren Hook is undertaking a very important and dangerous space walk. Actually, he's just outside the ship catching some cosmic rays to cook multi-cellular astro-nutrient dinners. Well, OK, they're hot dogs. Meanwhile, Cadet Stimpy is left at the controls of the ship. Not a good move! As Stimpy tries to retrieve his companion, he bungles the job and erroneously cuts Ren's lifeline. Ren is now left stranded, helplessly floating through space. How long can he last out there? Stimpy... do something!

Stimpy... do something!

CADET STIMPY TO THE RESCUE!

TO THE CARGO BAY

Cadet Stimpy is not your ordinary cat. He'll have to exhibit cat-like agility as well as intelligence to make it to the back of the Space Rocket Alone, he'd probably never make it. Nonetheless, with you as a guide, he has a chance. Keep checking the top of the screen for falling obstacles.

HACK A FURBALL

By pressing the B Button, Stimpy will spew a furball that can destroy certain enemies. Gross, Stimpy!

MUDDY MUDSKIPPER

This fishy TV star will grant Ren or Stimpy temporary invincibility if you can correctly guess two out of three coin tosses. Three out of three is better!

STIMPY! YOU GEETIT!

Unbelievable! Stimpy made it all the way through the ship to rescue Ren, but let him go again while trying to open the hatch.

REN IN THE ALIEN WORLD

ALIEN EXPEDITION

Captain Hook, set adrift by the witless Cadet Stimpy, finds himself sucked into the gravitational pull of a strange planet. On the planet's surface, Ren will have to explore various craters and the guts of a giant alien creature to finally find safety.

SLAP HAPPY

Ren's only method of defense, besides avoiding enemies, is to slap them silly. Touching the B Button will unleash a powerful whack. Not all enemies can be defeated with a slap. Some are invincible. Slap the five-eyed frog creatures only when they are jumping toward Ren. If Ren slaps one on the backside, he'll lose a unit of Toast.

MORE JOY!

Ren and Stimpy's adventures will continue for two more silly stages. Stimpy returns in Stage 3 and you'll guide Ren in Stage 4.

RAMPART™

The game of castle conquest from Jaleco has moved from the arcade to the NES, Super NES and now Game Boy. In this version, gone are the attacking fleets. Instead, you are besieged by Knights and Assault Towers. Choose your level of difficulty to determine the ease of rebuilding your castle.

CASTLE IMPROVEMENTS

● SPEEDSTERS

At the higher difficulty levels, the enemies pick up speed and turn more frequently. Since you can't anticipate their turns, fire all around them in a continuous barrage. Closer foes are easier to hit.

● GUNS VS. BLOCKS

You can choose to have either more cannons or simpler building blocks. Simpler blocks may be the better option, because you can always increase your number of cannons in subsequent turns.

● DUELING CANNONS

The two-player option pits your castle directly against that of your opponent in a traditional castle-bashing battle. This may be the most fun two people can have with heavy artillery.

THE ENEMY

All of the enemies move quickly and change direction without warning. Fire continuously in circles around your chosen target for the most effective attack. Attack the enemies closest to the river to maximize your fire power and the number of attacks you can have during one turn.

The Siege Tower's attack is weak, if it is over the river, destroy it before it deploys Grunts.

The Black Knight leaves holes in your territory that Black Mage structures destroy. Black Knights find

The White Knight is weak, but his shots are aimed at screen edges and covers that are difficult to repair.

THE BATTLEFIELD

Choose your castle from several locations on one side of a river. The enemy forces are on the far bank. There are also two fields to choose from at the start of the game, and more later as you win campaigns. Choose a location that allows expansion into new territories. You might also choose a field due to the Crystals, with which you can earn extra points.

A battlefield with more castles has more scoring opportunities.

For easier reconstruction choose the castle with the most damaged squares.

TWO-PLAYER TACTICS

You'll have to develop a new set of tactics when playing the two-player game. The biggest change is that you are aiming at a motionless target. That may sound easy, but you can't just aim at any part of the castle walls and hope to win. The tips below will help you be selective.

● CASTLE CUNNING

Choose a New Castle location with room to rebuild. Always choose the location furthest from the edges of the screen and the river. Next, try to enclose a second castle as soon as possible. You'll get extra points and a full back position.

● CANNON RULES

Place cannons in remote territory areas or widely separated within a castle's walls. If your enemy is targeting your cannons, it will take him longer to destroy widely separated cannons than those placed next to each other.

● BREACHING THE WALLS

Try to take out sections of the wall that are difficult to repair with complex pieces. Leave single section holes near river and screen edges. If your enemy doesn't get a single section piece, she won't be able to replace her castle.

● CLOSE-UPS

Nearly castles and towers should be your primary targets because you can fire more shots in the time allowed. After breaching nearby walls, concentrate on more distant castles and towers. It's better to leave small holes than huge gaps.

● BLAST THE CANNONS

The best defense may be to destroy the enemy's offense. Castles are tougher than cannons, but since they are destroyed, they can't attack you. After breaching the walls strategically as described above, aim for cannons, especially if they are grouped together.

● CLOSURE

Look for an area needing only single repairs and enclose it first so you have at least one hole. Once you've placed a piece, immediately move the cursor away before the piece appears. If a piece won't fit a nearby hole, drop it anywhere to get the next piece.

● GROWTH

Enclose new territory, including new castles, as soon as possible. Not only will you earn Territory Points and possibly Treasure Points, you'll also have more stones to place cannons and an easier time rebuilding cannons.

● ON THE EDGE

The most difficult place to rebuild is along the edge of the screen or river. If possible, leave a single repair section width between your wall and the edge. Remember that it is easier to repair straight, single section walls than thick walls with right angles.

THE LITTLE MERMAID

The Little Mermaid, Disney's animated feature, made mermaid Ariel famous, and Capcom first brought her into homes everywhere with an NES game in the summer of '91. Now the mermaid goes mobile in Capcom's Game Boy version of Disney's The Little Mermaid, which is faithful translation of the NES version.

ADVENTURE AND TREASURE UNDER THE SEA

In this Game Boy version, the Little Mermaid once again puts up her fins to fight Ursula, the Sea Witch, who is bent on controlling everything under the sea. The graphics are good, the play control is precise, the music is fun, but the side-scrolling is distracting and hard on the eyes. Ariel swims through the same five stages featured in the NES game, and they're so more difficult in this version. Players who are huge fans of The Little Mermaid will probably enjoy her Game Boy adventure under the sea just as much as they liked the NES version.

The cinema scene at the beginning of the game tells Ariel's story. A beautiful and musical mermaid, she leaves the sea to seek love on land. She meets a handsome prince who falls in love with her, but happily-ever-after is not to be—at least not for now. No sooner had Ariel departed than Sea Witch Ursula began to work her wicked ways. When Ariel learns that evil is spreading across the ocean floor, she vows to return to the sea to set things right and save her many finned friends from Ursula's oppressive rule. Her quest takes her through icy seas, shipwrecks and undersea volcanoes on her way to Ursula's Castle and her encounter with the Sea Witch.

TAKE THE PLUNGE

Ariel bids her prince goodbye and dives back into adventure, first in the Sea of Coral where she seeks shells and tries to keep from becoming shark bait. From there she swims on to explore a Sunken Ship, a Sea of Ice, an Undersea Volcano and, finally, Ursula's Castle. And she can't count on the fish as friends—they're under Ursula's curse as well, and are dangerous to touch.

SHELL & TREASURE

Ariel can either carry Sea Shells to protect herself from fish or throw them at the fish to clear the way. She can also throw shells at Treasure Chests to open them. The water-logged chests usually hold precious Pearls that Power-Up her fin attack.

SWEEP THE SEA FLOOR

Ariel can find treasure and fight off fish with her powerful flipp-z. Her Power and Range increase with every Pearl she finds. She can sweep the sands to find objects, and when her Power is up, she can fin-flip boulders, barrels and Treasure Chests.

FUP THE FISH

When Ariel swims, bubbles appear in the wake of her tail. When enemies are within rings, they'll be trapped in a big bubble that she can pick up and throw at other enemies. At first, you have to sweat one to stun them, twice to capture them, but it gets easier as Power and Range increase.

URSULA'S ASSISTANTS

Ursula has posted one of her mean-spirited sea assistants in each of the areas Ariel must pass through. The first is a macho, mermaid-munching mako that Ariel must attack with bubble-fish. Other big baddies to beware of are the Electric Eels, the way-out Walrus and the small-fry Soldier Fish.

COUNSELORS' CORNER!

FINAL FANTASY MYSTIC QUEST

HOW DO I OPEN THE LOCKED DOORS IN THE ICE PYRAMID?

Dennis Corino

The door to the Ice Pyramid is locked. Phoebe sees a switch in the blue statue with the glowing eyes that sits by the door. It's out of reach, but she suggests pushing it with something. If you use the Steel Sword, you'll flip the switch and the front door will open. Use the same technique inside to open other doors.

? HOW DO I REACH FIREBURG? ?

After you get the River Coin, return to the Libra Temple. The path to the north that was closed before will now be open. Follow it to the Focus Tower, clearing out monster lairs as you go. When you enter the tower, you'll be on the third floor. Go down to the second floor. Get the Venus Shield and Blizzard spell from the Treasure Chests, then shove the Statue down the wall and left to the concrete block. Now go to the first floor, enter the Blue Door and walk back to the second floor. With the Statue in place, you can hop across, climb back up to the third floor and exit to a new area. From there, travel north then east to Fireburg.

The old man on the second floor drops a hint.

Push the Statue into the space between the two walls so you can use it later as a stepping stone.

Now that you've got the River Coin, the Blue Door on the first floor will open at your command.

Climb back up to the second floor and jump over to the other ledge using the Statue as a step.

SOUL BLAZER

WHERE IS THE ZANTETSU SWORD?

The Zantetsu Sword, which can slay metal monsters, is in Dr. Leo's Laboratory. Fight the foes in the basement until you release the Door. When the Door is free, go to the room above the entrance and open the chest to get the sword. Return with it to Dr. Leo's Painting and clear out the metal monsters to receive Tornado Magic.

After you find the great Door, climb up to the room on the second floor and open the Treasure Chest to find the Zantetsu Sword inside the Zantetsu Sword.

With the Zantetsu Sword in hand, return to the area that had one area you couldn't do but it'll be back to the final monster in Dr. Leo's Painting.

WHERE ARE THE EIGHT MASTER'S EMBLEMS?

Some of the Master's Emblems will be given to you after you perform certain favors, others you'll simply pick up—if you can find their hiding places. If you can't find them in the locations shown, you probably have to do something more to make them appear. When you have all of the emblems, return to GreenWood to get the Magic Bell that lets you use magic spells without using up Gems.

EMBLEM C

After you clear the Light Shrine, return to the Exchange Square in GreenWood. The Squaw in the upper right corner will give you the emblem.

EMBLEM F

Use the Dream Rod on the sleeping Small imprisoned in the Soul of the Mountain House to open a passage to an emblem in Underground Lake. Look.

EMBLEM A

Climb the sky in the lower right corner of Drava Valley Highlands after you clear Leo's Parking.

EMBLEM D

Crabbing on the Delight's Dream to find the Setsu in Case, then climb a few floors to make four chests appear. The emblem is in the upper left chest.

EMBLEM G

Get the Door Key and open the Locked Door on the first floor of Dr. Leo's Laboratory. Push the chest of drawers to the left to uncover Emblem G.

EMBLEM B

Use the Soul of the Sky in the second Basement entrance of Magedol Castle to uncover Emblem B.

EMBLEM E

After you clear Underground Lake Level 1, return to the Soul of the Mountain House, walk through the wall to the left of the arch and talk to the Seal.

EMBLEM H

Clear the Corridor to the Dock, then return to the grassy area in front of Magedol Castle. Walk behind the three wooden pillars to find Emblem H.

MIGHT & MAGIC

HOW CAN I CHANGE MY PARTY MEMBERS?

John Rogers

Change your party members' professions, classes and alignments by visiting the Guild at x 2, y 13 in Sorpigal. These attributes determine which weapons they can equip and use, as well as their abilities to fight and use magic. Consider carefully before changing—you forfeit the members' experience and weapons when you change them.

The Guild Master can give your members new character classes that might be helpful to the party.

Are you willing to forfeit experience and weapons? The sacrifice might be worth it in the long run.

HOW DO I LEAVE THE TOWN OF SORPIGAL?

The Knight guarding the main gate at x12, y0 keeps you from exiting until you've attained at least Level 3. There is plenty to discover on the streets of Sorpigal and below, so don't be in a rush to leave. Search out the many secrets here first. It's a good idea to either have the Fly spell or be at Level 5 or above before you depart. Otherwise, you won't be up to the challenge of the more difficult enemies out there. Because of the hands of thieving thugs, traveling is dangerous. Visit the Leprechaun of Teleporting at x11, y3 and give him one Gem. He'll send you to the city of your choice.

When you reach level 3, the Knight will stop waste and let you exit—if you think you're ready.

Before you venture out of Sorpigal, find the Fly spell and build your party's experience level.

Try risk-free travel by paying the Leprechaun to send you to one of the other cities in Vorn.

WHAT CHESS MOVE SHOULD I MAKE IN AREA D-4?

You'll earn 25,000 experience points if you call the right move in this game of chess.

When you're asked, "What piece?" enter "QUEEN." When asked where you want to move, answer

"KINGS1." Enter your response using capital letters and the numeral 1, and be sure to include the dash.

In D-4, OJ gives you the chance to make your move. The right response earns experience points.

Take the challenge. When OJ asks which chess piece you want to move, tell him to move the Queen.

Where do you want to place the Queen? To the side and question asked, respond by entering "KINGS1."

DRAGON WARRIOR IV

HOW CAN I ESCAPE FROM THE CASTLE IN CHAPTER 2?

Jenry Parker

You are the adventure-seeking Princess Alena, and your father, fearing for your safety, won't let you leave the castle. Since you can't go out the front gate, you have to find another exit. In one of the castle's rooms, a carpenter is repairing a hole in the wall. Go talk to everyone in the castle, then return to that room. If the carpenter is still there, you haven't talked to everyone. If he's gone, face the damaged wall and Search. You'll drop through the wall and be on your way to adventure.

Someone damaged the wall in one of the castle's rooms, but the royal carpenter is busy fixing it.

When you've talked to everybody in the castle, the carpenter will finish the repair and leave.

Stand facing the repaired wall and use the Search command. You'll fall right through the wall!

? HOW CAN I BUILD THE TUNNEL TO BRANCA? ?

As Talon the merchant in Chapter 3, you must raise 60,000 gold pieces to build a tunnel to Branca. That's a lot of dough! You could buy equipment at other shops, mark it up and sell it at your store, but there's a faster way to make money. Talk to the King. He'll order seven Broad Swords and seven sets of Half-Plate Armor. Head east across the bridge and attack the enemies there. Pick up the swords and armor they leave behind, and when you have seven of each, return to the castle. Take your hardware to the two men in the upper right room on the first floor to get 60,000 gold pieces.

When you talk to the King, he'll place an order for Broad Swords and Half-Plate Armor.

You don't have to make the swords and armor. Take them from enemies after you defeat them.

Your effort pays off royally. The King's cashiers will give you the entire sum: 60,000 gold pieces.

You can help Zen when you pop this Konami cartridge into your NES.

TAKE OUT THE TRASH!

The Geocrystal, a gem with the power to save the world, has been discovered by a young boy named Jeremy. The loathsome Lord Contaminous and his army of squid submissive and fer-ring fiends will stop at nothing to obtain the Geocrystal. They have taken Jeremy captive and are employing treacherous tactics to force him to divulge the location of the majestic gem. Contaminous' evil intent is evident to the Gordons. Zen's perilous mission on Earth is threefold: save Jeremy, secure the Geocrystal and destroy the filthy forces of Contaminous.

GRIME SCENES

Zen can begin his clean-up quest in one of four different stages. There is no pre-established order for completing the stages. Each stage is different. The action is mostly side-scrolling in the Sluxxon Oil Rig and Acid Rain Forest stages, but a diagonal scroll is featured in the Runaway Railcar and Biggs Toxic Factory stages. The game is not overly difficult, but the variety in views keeps things interesting.

BIGGS TOXIC FACTORY

There's enough toxic material in this factory to wipe out an entire city. Defeat Smogger at the top of the building and escape before it blows!

RUNAWAY RAILCAR

Rock slides, gaps between the tracks and other railway enemies will hamper Zen's progress as he zooms down the tracks. Hit the junction switches with the Photon Stick to change tracks.

ACID RAIN FOREST

Sulfura, an acidic warrior, is wreaking havoc in the Rain Forest. Zen will have to revive the flowers while fending off attacks from acid rain clouds. Battle Sulfura at the uppermost area in the stage to stop the rain.

SLUXXON OIL RIG

Crew members are stranded behind flaming doorways in the oil rig. Find fire extinguishers to put out the flames and rescue them. However, to exit the stage, Zen will have to make his way up to meet Oil Slick, a terrible, slippery character!

INTERGALACTIC NINJA ARTS

Zen has mastery of a futuristic form of ninja. His Photon Stick plays a big role in his attack techniques. Zen won't actually hit an enemy with his hands. All contact occurs with his Stick or his feet. Logs that are good for kicking are also good for jumping. Great leaping ability is a must for the warrior.

THRUST THROW

An enemy can be thrown over Zen's head by holding Right or Left and pressing the B Button. Reverse the direction to execute this powerful throw.

KICK

Zen will only be able to execute his Kick Attack when he's hanging from a pipe or ledge. He'll score this technique frequently on the oil rig.

JUMP ATTACK

In the diagonally scrolling stages, you can accomplish the Jump Attack by pressing the A Button and then pressing the B Button while Zen is in the air.

SLAY

A slow, overhead swing will be the executed if you press the B Button without pressing the directional control. This is a good attack for tall enemies.

LOWER THRUST

Hold Down and press the B Button to make Zen crouch and thrust his Photon Stick toward the floor. He can't use it in the diagonally scrolling stages.

ZEN TOOLS

Scattered sparsely throughout the various stages are Power-Up Items that will help the Zen master accomplish his goal of cleaning up the environment.

LIFE ITEM

Pressing the Select Button will give Zen a Life Item but will fully restore his health.

SHIELD

Once picked up, the Shield activates automatically. It will protect Zen from three enemy hits.

1-UP ZEN

Finding a 1-Up will give Zen an extra chance to find and defeat Centennians.

BIGGS TOXIC FACTORY

The Biggs Toxic Factory isn't necessarily the easiest stage to complete, but since it's the initial location on the map, we'll tell you about it first. Zen's jumping ability and his skills with the powerful Photon Stick will certainly be put to the test here in this 3-D diagonally-scrolling stage. Pay attention to Zen's shadow when he jumps.

JUMPING & FIGHTING

Moving platforms are often extremely difficult to land on. If Zen doesn't land on one, he's a goner! The key to an accurate leap is to watch where Zen's shadow is located. If the shadow appears on a solid structure, Zen will land safely. You can continue to move Zen around while he is in the air.

THE CLAW & CONVEYORS

A giant, mechanical claw will drop down from the top of the screen to try to put the clamp on Zen. Zen can fake it out by moving constantly. If he stays in one location, he's bound to get snagged. Keep moving on the conveyor belts, too!

HIDE IN THE GAP

This is a strange test of skills! Zen will have to fight against an electrified fence with his Photon Stick. When the ceiling falls, Zen had better be in the purple gap so he can avoid contact with the ceiling. If the fence forces him out, he'll be squashed.

SMOgger

Smogger poses a serious health threat. Zen, however, poses an even bigger threat to Smogger. The Jump Attack tends to work fairly well. Use it! You'll need to avoid him when he transforms into a cloud of smoke. Jump over his fire blasts.

RESCUE MISSION

When Zen gets to this area, he'll have to use special jumping abilities to find Jeremy. Rebound off of the walls by pressing the directional control toward the wall and the A Button to jump.

BONUS STAGE

Recycle it, Zen! Receive powerful Bonus Items for hitting as much recyclable material into the Recyclotron as possible. Move under the spouts and hit the garbage with the Photon Stick as it drops down.

SLIXXON OIL RIG

Several doorways have burst into flames on the ship and some members of the crew are trapped behind them. Zen will have to find Fire Extinguishers to douse the flames and save the crew. To put out a flame, stand next to the doorway with a Fire Extinguisher in hand and press Up and the B Button on the controller. He'll be able to use each Fire Extinguisher only once.

1 FIREFIGHTER ZEN

Douse the flames with a Fire Extinguisher. Some extinguishers can be found by enemies when they're defeated by Zen. Zen can only carry and use one at a time.

2 SHIELD POWER

A lone Shield is waiting for Zen in the upper left corner of the horizontal portion of the map. Getting it will help Zen make his way over to the right and up through the towering smokestack.

3 HIDDEN 1-UP

Zen can make his way up the tower before rescuing the required number of crew members. Hold Left on the Controller and jump off the tower to snag the elusive 1-Up.

OIL SLICK

Oil Slick is probably the most difficult boss to defeat out of the first four stage bosses. When you score a hit on Oil Slick, you'd better move fast because he'll put his quick slick attack on Zen faster than you can say "Crude."

BOSS

ACID RAIN FOREST

The Acid Rain Forest is probably the easiest stage in the game to complete. However, the goal of the stage is probably the least intuitive. The layout is very simple. Three giant trees dominate this vertically-oriented stage. Use the branches and bushes to quickly scale the trees. Keep an eye on the Flower gauge. It tells you how well you're doing.

1 TAP THE FLOWERS

The acid rain that Sulfura is creating is choking the flowers. Use your Photon Stick to knock the acid rain off of the flowers and temporarily restore their health. The more flowers there are standing, the better Zen's chances are to defeat the sour-souled Sulfura.

2 ACID RAIN CLOUD

There's something lurking behind the gloomy clouds. Slam the clouds with the Photon Stick to find out what makes them move so fast. You'll discover a type of weather machine. These machines are deadly. They will camp out above Zen's head and shoot out powerful lasers. Thrash them before they have a chance to hit you.

3 SPRING UP!

Some patches of brush in the forest have spring-like properties. Zen can jump and bounce to great heights on the lush, but very endangered vegetation. This is the only route to the top of the area.

SULFURA

Zen loses health if the flowers wilt. Upon rescuing several flowers, bounce up to the top to battle Sulfura. She throws vials of acid and casts acid rain. Use the Thrust Throw if you get close enough to her to execute the move. If you get a message to GO DOWN, you'll need to rescue more flowers.

RUNAWAY RAILCAR

Zen takes to the railways in a runaway railcar. Depending on how many switches he manages to hit along the way, Zen will encounter a wide variety of hazards. There's no "safe" route. However, hitting every switch will yield the easiest route. Jumping skills will be used on the rails to avoid gaps in the tracks, fireballs and other nasty obstacles.

SWITCH HITTER

A warning message will flash on the screen to inform Zen that there is an upcoming switch. Hold Left on the Controller and press the B Button to hit the switch.

TOO MANY TRAPS

As previously mentioned, there are many obstacles in this fast-moving stage. Zen will have to jump his railcar over rock slides and gaps in the tracks. He'll also have to avoid or destroy falling boulders and metal barriers along the way.

FLAME FIELD

Depending upon the path Zen takes, he may come across this patch of lava. Move back and forth to avoid the flames that spew forth.

GARBAGEMAN

The Jump Attack works well on the Garbagegoman. Don't get too close! Jump over his triple-shot attack and avoid the barrels of toxic waste that come rolling in while assailing the beast.

THE CONTAMINATION CONTINUES

After cleaning up the boss characters in the first four stages, Zen has four more interesting battles ahead of him. The first is a free-fall episode down the Cavern of Crud. There's no time to waste here because the spiked coiling is on its way down, too! Next, face off against Scrap Heap, a mechanical warrior made entirely of junk. A riveting battle with a clone is also in Zen's near future. Ultimately, Lord Contaminous will be encountered.

The final battle with Lord Contaminous takes place in space. You'll have to destroy the nuclear weapons before they make their way to Earth.

BOMBERMAN II

WARNING: IT'S A BLAST!

It seems like every hero, video game or otherwise, has an evil twin. Bomberman is no different. His evil twin has pulled off a bank heist and has twisted the facts around so the blame now rests on Bomberman. He'll have to set the record straight, but it won't be easy. First, he has to blast out of the prison that Hudson Soft has built! Loaded with an infinite supply of bombs, Bomberman is ready to break out!

KA-BOOM!

By today's video game standards, the graphics and sound of Bomberman II are primitive. However, this point is overshadowed by the fact that Bomberman II is really fun to play. The strategy, puzzle and action elements give it just what it needs: staying power. It's fairly addictive and it's not a quick play. A 2 and 3-player option plus a password feature complement the game nicely.

The difficulty level steadily increases through each of the six stages. Each stage consists of eight levels. You'll get a password when your game ends. There are also extended Continues.

Much more strategy comes into play when the bank levels get bigger: the obstacles multiply and new enemies appear.

ABOUT THE EXIT

BOMBERMAN II

In each level, the exit is hidden under one of the obstacles. Its placement is random and can be anywhere on the playfield. If Bomberman annihilates all of the enemies in the room and reaches the exit before time runs out, he'll be allowed to move on to the next level. Don't place bombs near the exit once it has been exposed. If the blast from a bomb happens to touch the exit, several enemies will appear from the doorway to make Bomberman's job more difficult. Once again: No bombing near the exit!

Bad move, Bomberman! The blast will be bigger in this level. It's bound to hit the exit. Don't place a bomb unless you're sure it will be a safe blast.

Naïveté it, big boy! If this bomb had been placed one space to the left or right, it would have been safe because the stones would have blocked the blast.

Here comes another enemy!

BOMBERCIDE

When enemies approach quickly, it's easy to get ahead of yourself and walk right into the bomb blast, thus committing bombercide. Rule Number 1: Don't bomb yourself! Get into the habit of turning a corner after you place a bomb. This tactic will take Bomberman out of harm's way and will be especially helpful when the bomb blasts become more powerful and have greater range. Make sure that you go ALL the way around the corner, too. The sight of Bomberman exploding is not what you want to see, no matter how humorous it is.

The bomb has been placed and it's about ready to explode. Get out of the way, Bomberman! Move to a safe spot. This looks to be a fairly safe spot.

Suddenly Bomberman makes that ffo particular game square can move through the obstacles. Forgetting about the bomb, Bomberman hesitates momentarily.

PHAT! The blast from the bomb takes its toll out, but... but... Bomberman says the ultimate piece. He'll have to start this level all over again!

ENEMY ELIMINATION

Bomberman's first goal is to eliminate all of the enemies. The next step is to blast obstacles and look for the exit. If Bomberman can accomplish both tasks simultaneously, more power to him! See how many enemies you can take out with a single blast!

An example of good bomb placement! The blast took out an enemy and an obstacle.

BOMB CHAIN

At the beginning of the game, Bomberman starts off being able to place only one bomb at a time. As he collects Bomb Bonus Items, he'll be able to lay down several bombs at a time. Placing multiple bombs is great for clearing off many obstacles with a big blast. Hidden under obstacles are the Bonus Items. There is at least one Bonus Item in each level.

It's a good thing Bomberman has turned a corner and is out of the way. This blast will be a big one!

The first bomb goes off! The other bombs will explode in a row if they are touched by the blast.

Five obstacles have been cleared away. It's too bad there weren't any enemies in the path of the blast.

INTERSECTION BLAST

Try to clear off as many obstacles as you can as quickly as you can. You'll benefit from placing bombs at intersection points. A four-way blast has a better chance of hitting something. Remember to get out of the way, though!

This 3-bomb blast will take out six obstacles. It might even reveal the exit!

BOMB REPELLENT

If you're being chased by particularly pesky enemies, drop bombs to get them off your back. Almost every enemy will change its direction if threatened with a bomb. Again, make sure that you have a safe spot to run to if you drop a bomb. You can also wait and stand on top of the bomb for a second to allow the enemy to pass.

"Oh, great! I've got one of these nasty green things on my tail. I'll just have to drop one of my explosive devices and get out of the way!"

"Wo, but I got him off my tail. I'm gonna have to wait for a second. I hope he's stupid enough to head back the way I'll be the last place he'll want to go!"

VS. MODE

Two Bombermen can face off in the vs. Mode. The same basic rule applies here: Don't blow yourself up. Blow the other Bomberman up instead. The first Bomberman to blow his opponent five times will win the match. It's considered a draw if both combatants happen to get blown up by the same blast. There will be plenty of Bomb and Flame Face Bonus Items to be uncovered in this mode. The Flame Faces will increase the range of your bomb blasts.

The blue Bomberman was the first to trap the orange Bomberman in the corner and he has only a few seconds before he could get out.

3-PLAYER BLASTING!

Another great feature in this game is the 3-Player Battle Mode. To actually play with three players, you'll need to use the NES Satellite or NES Four Score. There aren't many games that feature a 3-Player Mode. It's a bit odd that the programmers didn't go for a 4-Player Mode. The Battle Mode is the only place where the Skull Item appears. If you pick up a Skull, unpleasant side effects are bound to occur. You'll automatically drop bombs, speed up uncontrollably or slow way down. Stay away from them.

You can select the number of games a Bomberman will need to win in order to win the Battle Mode match.

A Skull has been uncovered. Don't go near it! Crazy things start to happen when a Skull is picked up.

Player 1 is in front with a two game lead over the other Bombermen. He needs one more to win the match!

CREDIT CODE

When you finish the game, you'll see the credits roll by. In the credits, a special password is revealed that, when entered, will take you to the Sound Room. Here, you can sample all of the game's sounds.

You'll have to finish the game to find out the secret password!

Admit HIGH SPEED LOG RIDE
For Play on the TIC

Admit One

The game starts at the Ticket Booth. The Fun House admission is 50 Tickets, so you have to earn points for more tickets by mastering the other attractions first. At a cost of three Tickets, the Log Ride is a good place to start.

LOG ROLLING

Start by jumping onto the log, then get ready to jump over the logs that pop up out of the water.

FROM LIFT TO LOG

Press Up to make the lift go as high as possible. Then make a leap for the log on the right. You won't make it from a lower level!

JUMPING FISH

The water is full of jumping fish in this area. If you stand perfectly still on your log flume along the fish won't touch you.

TROUBLE IN WACKYLAND

Buster and his buddies are back on a new adventure that takes them to the new amusement park, Wackyland, just built near Acme Acres. When Buster receives a special invitation in the mail from a Secret Admirer, the Toonsters can't wait to try all the new rides and attractions at Wackyland. But they don't know the identity of the Secret Admirer—and they don't know that there is Trouble in Wackyland.

WITCHFLUNG

Admit One

Plucky Duck picks Bumper Cars and challenges two other drivers in three rounds behind the wheel. Hit the bumpers five or six times to make Power-Ups appear. They'll help you push the other drivers out of the picture.

ROUND 1

Your goal is to push the other drivers into the hole before they do the same to you. Keep pressing the Drive (D) button to hold these keys and to keep them from bouncing you backward against the bumpers.

ROUND 2

It's easy to get caught in the tight corners of the central course. Keep an eye on the Timer don't let it run out. If you get bumped into the hole, you lose a Heart, but if time runs out, your game is over.

ROUND 3

This course may look simple, but it's the toughest one of all. The hole is in the center of the screen, and it's surrounded by bumpers. It's easy to launch yourself into the hole by hitting one of the bumpers.

FAST FLIPS

When you reach this zone, be prepared to do a series of fast flips. Color changing from below the cart, then immediately flip up after you pass under the spike above.

EVASIVE ENEMIES

Flying enemies enter the scene in this area. Flip the roller coaster cart quickly up and down to dodge them.

GET A NEW RIDE

When your cart reaches the end of the rail line, wait until the last second then leap to the new cart on the left.

AUTOMATION ATTACK

The robots that attack in this area are difficult to dodge. The action is fast and frantic. Avoid the spikes and flip up and down to dodge the robots.

EXIT THE AREA

As you circle around towards the exit in the upper right, more robots pursue and spike and the sharp edges of triangles threaten to spear Helen. You must flip the cart very quickly to be in the right position to avoid damage.

WICKED

Admit One

Horton rides the rails and really throws his weight around. He fends off the railroad rats and dino-bombing birds with a boisterous belly-buster attack.

Horton has to avoid attacks from above and below and has to be ready to leap to the next car before it disconnects and leaves him behind. Press B to do the belly buster, and get ready to duck when entering tunnels.

ARNOLD THE PIT BULL

Arnold waits in one of the smoke stacks. When one of the stacks starts to rise, get ready to belly-bust the pit bull before he can box your ears. He has quite a long reach, so if you don't hit him immediately, jump back and wait for his next appearance. Hit him four times to defeat him.

Arnold shows a mean punch. If you miss your opportunity to strike as he emerges, stand way back and wait for your next chance to get the jump on him.

THE SECRET ADMIRER

It takes 50 regular tickets or 4 gold ones to enter the Fun House. Inside, Buster contends with a maze of flashing lights, confusing doors, and gravity gone mad.

TIME DIVER

MAN

Earth, 60 years into the future. The world is virtually crime free thanks to the Clear System invented by Kane Nelson, scientist extraordinaire. That is, until a secret organization called Romedrox decides to challenge the system by unleashing a plague of crime. In order for them to succeed, they'll need to prevent the Clear System from ever being invented, and that means eliminating Kane or his ancestors.

Los Angeles, 1993. Dan Nelson thought he was an ordinary student living in L.A. until the day he found himself under attack by Romedrox warriors. During the attack, Dan learns about his future son, Kane, and vows to protect his family past, present, and future. It's a race through time in this new sci-fi thriller from Teitel.

BIG, BIG ACTION

EON Man is well prepared for the obstacles that he ahead of him. Using advanced techniques and his incredible athletic abilities, Dan can get up or over vertical obstacles with ease. When you come to a place that you can't reach with a normal jump, try a series of quick back and forth kick jumps off platforms or walls for an easy vertical climb. This technique is also handy for getting past stubborn enemies, because you can either use alternative routes or pass them by jump kicking through platforms.

PEACEFUL 1993

EON MAN

Los Angeles is a beautiful and peaceful city that is about to get turned upside down. Romedrax warriors have kidnapped Dan's brother and are holding him on top of an office building. As Dan searches throughout the city for his brother, he is just beginning to find out how powerful his enemies really are. Can Dan avoid their traps and save his brother? The race is on!

1 Breakout

Watch out for surprise attacks from above you!

4 Which Path

Travel up the passage on the right to avoid enemies.

2 Flame On

Flames shoot from three directions here. When the first horizontal flame dies down, jump across the pipe it comes from. When the second horizontal flame and the single vertical flame die down, kick jump off the right wall and middle pipe to reach the next platform.

5 Mega Attack

Since each platform contains an enemy, you'll need lots of energy to get you through here safely. Use a wind blast from the platforms below to knock out each of these bad guys.

3 Jump

Even though the awnings are a safer route, Eon Man must drop down to street level to get past the Video store.

6 Bird Brain

Because as many as five or six birds will attack at once, use a wind blast to knock them out as soon as they appear or you may end up a part of their nest!

DEVASTATED 2052

What was once a beautiful city is now only devastated ruins. Romedrix warriors have taken over the city and are using the underground transportation systems as their headquarters. Also hidden somewhere deep underground is Dan's kidnapped son, Kane. Knowing that you'll be coming to save Kane, a Romedrix football warrior is awaiting your arrival. Can Dan save his son or will this final trap finish him off for good?

1 Tough Place To Pass

With lasers firing at you from all directions and a guard waiting below, you may want to leap over this danger pit.

2 More Power

Use the train to reach the platform and attack these four enemies from behind. Once defeated, each holds a special Power-Up.

3 1-Up

One-Ups are scarce so don't pass up the chance to grab this one! Defeat the first enemy and blast the second for this 1-Up.

THE PAST 1882

EON MAN

Grandpa Nelson was a rugged character full of spit and fire until he was kidnapped by these time bandits. Now held in a cave deep under the town shack, Dan must rush to save Grandpa Nelson from the clutches of the cyborg rock man who is holding him hostage. Can he travel back to this western frontier to save his grandfather before he is wiped out of history as well?

1 Wagon Wheel

Use the chuck wagon to reach the upper platforms but stay away from the spinning blade or you'll end up as chuck roast!

2 Quick Change

The climb to the top will be tough, but if you're quick enough, you can kick jump off the disappearing blocks until you reach safety.

NOW FEBRUARY 1993 PLAYING

LOOK FOR THESE RELEASES SOON

HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER

Company.....Hi Tech
Suggested Retail Price.....Between $49.95-$59.95
Release Date.....February 1993
Memory Size.....8 Megabits
Game Type.....Side-scrolling submarine action with nine missions.

Captain Ramius is back on the dodge, trying to sneak away from the former Soviet navy with a super-secret new sub. The Super NES version joins the Game Boy and NES versions. In some ways, this is the best. You have better control of the Red October and more weapons at your disposal. On the other hand, there are more baddies than before, and many of them are fast. If you have the Super Scope accessory, you can plug in for some target practice in the periscope mode. After the first mission, you'll be able to undertake other missions in the Caribbean, North Pacific and Mediterranean Sea.

With lots of enemy vessels surrounding you at every turn, the challenge is great. The Super Scope option gives the game an extra dimension.

The two-player interactivity and fun of the Game Boy version of Hunt is sadly missing from this game. It is really a simple shooter that doesn't take advantage of the super story line of the movie and book.

AEROBIZ

Company.....Koel
Suggested Retail Price.....$49.95

Release Date.....February 1993
Memory Size.....8 Megabits
Game Type.....Airline simulation

Here's your chance to run an airline to the top of the industry or straight into the ground. From negotiating landing rights to advertising specials to purchasing and maintaining a fleet of airliners, Aerobiz puts you in the pilot's seat. Get up to speed in this month's review.

Almost every aspect of managing a major airline is included in this simulation, making it seem very realistic. High challenge and interest.

Information is often packed onto the screen, making it difficult to see the important figures. It isn't always clear what the relationship is between the orders you take and the results at your business.

DRAGON'S LAIR

Company.....Data East
Suggested Retail Price.....$49.95
Release Date.....February 1993
Memory Size.....4 Megabits
Game Type.....Medieval cartoon hack and slash action

Don't expect the laser disc Dragon's Lair from the Super NES newcomer. Although the graphics and animation are very good in this game of the same name, it is very much an action challenge in the tradition of Wizards & Warriors. Dirk the Daring is your hero through multiple stages of being attacked by dragons and other crusading critters. Your job is to collect as many crystals as possible and save... yes, a princess.

➤ The colorful graphics are a definite plus. The option screen has four levels of difficulty and button control selection.

➤ Control of Dink is slightly stiff and slow, making precise movement difficult and frustrating. Collision detection with the weapons is also imprecise. Although it may seem that you are hitting an object, it won't register as a hit. Dink is also limited in the use of his sword. He can't swing and jump at the same time.

HARLEY'S HUMONGOUS ADVENTURE

Company Hi Tech
Suggested Retail Price Between $49.95-$59.95
Release Date January 1993
Memory Size 4 Megabits
Game Type One or two-player side-scrolling platform game.

They Harley is up to his neck, and above, in trouble. He's home alone and the dangers of not-so-ordinary household begabooos are humongous. It seems that Harley, a cool but carefree basement scientist, blew up his shrieking machine in the process of shrinking himself. Now he must collect the fragments of the machine to restore himself. The only problem is that a bunch of mutated bugs have ripped-off the missing parts. Items Harley can use include rubber bands, parachutes, tacks, screws and marbles. Other surprises are in store for Harley, like the toy tank he can drive in the playroom to plough through enemies or invincibility bug spray. The action is fast, but the play control is responsive, no matter if Harley is parachuting, jumping, swimming or shooting.

➤ Secret areas add an extra dimension to the game. Some stages have auto-scrolling so you must keep up the pace. The theme is fun, and so is the play.

➤ The animation could have been more involving, especially since Harley is supposed to be a cool dude. He seems more like a stick of wood than a character. There are places where Harley jumps off screen or so far above a platform that you can't see where you are jumping... most annoying!

WING COMMANDER

Company Midscope
Suggested Retail Price $49.95
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 8 Megabits
Game Type Multi-mission space combat with passwords.

As a rookie star fighter pilot, you'll take on the Kilrathi—humanity's most violent foe—in deep space. The mother-ship, 'TIGER'S CLAW,' has all the comforts of home... plus hardened vets who know all the tricks of the Kilrathi. This month's review should put you in the battle of your life.

➤ There's lots of advice from vets on how to waste the enemy, which comes in handy. Great ship graphics give a real feeling of being in space.

➤ Getting a bead on the Kilrathi fighters can be nearly impossible and the radar unit can be difficult to use because the enemies move on and off the screen so fast.

JEOPARDY!

Company Gametek
Suggested Retail Price $59.95
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 4 Megabits
Game Type TV game show.

Alex Trebek is featured in this Super NES version of the popular TV game show where you answer with questions. You can test your trivia knowledge in this month's review.

➤ There are more categories than the NES version, and they don't repeat nearly as often.

➤ Some of the questions are so long that you don't have time to answer. Also, entering in long answers can be difficult, because you don't have enough time. Alex's digitized voice can grate after a short time.

CYBERNATOR

Company Konami
Suggested Retail Price Between $49.00-$59.00
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 8 Megabits
Game Type Futuristic combat action with a cyber-suited hero.

The action heats up when you strap on your Assault Suit to do battle with the enemies of the Pacific States in space and on Earth. Survival training is covered in this issue's review.

➤ Great graphics, excellent control, non-stop action... what more is there? Hidden Power-Up items are well spread out in the game.

➤ It isn't always clear if an enemy is taking damage, which means you can waste a lot of time trying to waste invincible objects. The Power Punch attack puts your Dybometer in an awkward and hard-to-defend position.

THE ADDAMS FAMILY PUGSLEY'S SCAVENGER HUNT

Company Ocean
Suggested Retail Price $59.95
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 8 Megabits
Game Type Cartoon action game starring the Addams family.

Pugsley is the star of this challenging Super NES title from Ocean. Check out the scenes and all the mups in Power's cover review for February.

➤ Lots of variety and lots of fun. Some of the graphic effects are excellent, particularly the penalis scrolling of backgrounds and color layering of see-through objects like crystal balls and soap bubbles.

+ You use only Popylay in the action role.

ROBIN HOOD: PRINCE OF THIEVES

Company Virgin Games
Suggested Retail Price $29.99
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game type Vertical, horizontal and overhead scrolling action adventure.

After Robin escapes from the Arab Dungeon in Jerusalem with Azim, he returns to England to find Prince John terrorizing the countryside. The Game Boy version is virtually identical to the NES game of the same name. The variety of the action is impressive, from RPG-like searches to straight-out fencing duels. As different people join Robin, you can make use of their talents. You can also talk to lots of people and collect a wide assortment of items.

+ Great variety of game play and a great story are enough to keep interest high.

- Play control is awkward at the best of times. The graphics are often unappreciable and suffer from background blurring, which can make finding items frustrating.

RACE DRIVIN'

Company THQ GAMES
Suggested Retail Price Between $29.99-$39.99
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game type 3-D arcade road and stunt driving.

Believe it or not, this Game Boy version of Race Drivin' is better than the Super NES version. Why? The speed is much more real-to-life in the handheld game. There are four choices of cars, including both Automatic and Manual shift, three choices of track: Stunt, Autocross, and Super Stunt. The thrills of jumping, looping and dodging roadside obstacles are all included. Success is really a matter of practice and experimentation.

+ The 3-D graphics are very good for a Game Boy game. A wide variety of stunts keeps the challenge high.

- There is no way to determine correct speed for jumps and loops other than trial and error, which leads to lots of crashing.

DARKWING DUCK

Company Capcom
Suggested Retail Price Not Available
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game type Cartoon action starring Darkwing Duck.

St. Canard won't rest easy until P.O.W.I., is plucked by the dynamic Darkwing Duck. Expect seven stages of great Disney action.

+ You can select any of the first three stages in whatever order you prefer. Play control is excellent and there is always some new type of obstacle, to keep your interest high.

- If you've already played the NES version of this game, you won't find much difference except the lack of color.

THE LITTLE MERMAID

Company Capcom
Suggested Retail Price Not Available
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game type Cartoon action starring The Little Mermaid.

Ariel, Disney's Little Mermaid, makes her Game Boy debut with this long-awaited title from Capcom. Learn what it takes to put an end to Ursula's evil spell in this month's review.

+ Good play control highlights this game. Ariel's abilities include using sea shells and digging with her tail. There are lots of hidden Power-Ups to find.

- The mermaid theme may turn off some players and the storyline from the movie isn't represented in the play. As with Darkwing Duck, Capcom seems to have lifted this one straight from the NES.

RAMPART

Company Jaleco
Suggested Retail Price Not Available
Release Date January 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game type Strategic: castle battles for one or two players.

Expect a few twists from this Game Boy version of Rampart. For instance, ships are no longer the enemy in the one-player game. Check out two-player strategies and more in this month's review.

+ This is a great action strategy game for players of all ages and for Game Linking action. You get to select your level of difficulty.

- During the battle, your view is of the enemy, not of your castle, so it can be difficult to tell how you are doing and which enemy to attack. Some of the enemy characters are so fast and change direction so quickly that you might not be able to get in a hit.

THE REN AND STIMPY SHOW

Company THQ GAMES
Suggested Retail Price Between $29.99-$39.99
Release Date January 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game type Cartoon action starring Ren & Stimpy.

Ren is lost in space as Stimpy stumbles about inside a spaceship trying to rescue his pal. Ren's only hope may be the tips you get in the review this issue.

■ The humor and graphic look of the hit Nickelodeon cartoon are preserved in this game.

■ Many players will find the game play to be repetitive and unengaging.

ALIEN 3

Company Atari
Suggested Retail Price $27.95
Release Date January 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game Type 3D action-adventure with overhead view

There's no end to the horror for Ripley. The aliens are back in force in this month's adventures review.

■ The search for weapons aspect of the game follows the theme of the movie and provides much of the challenge. The camera angles are very effective. The overhead view gives freedom of movement.

■ The play control is slow to respond and particularly difficult in battle situations. The hit detection also seems to be sporadic.

SPOT: THE COOL ADVENTURE

Company Virgin Games
Suggested Retail Price $29.99
Release Date January 1993
Memory Size 1 Megabit
Game Type Side-scrolling platform action game with 7-Up character.

Spot hits the road this month in his own action game and Power review. It seems that everyone he meets has a taste for something cool and refreshing.

■ Play control in a platform game such as this is critical, and Spot stands up to the test. In each area you have a choice of two paths— one easy and one difficult.

■ There are few hidden items or Easter Eggs and the challenge is not very high. Screens don't scroll vertically when Spot jumps very high, so he disappears off screen, making his reentry a tricky thing.

ULTIMA: WARRIORS OF DESTINY

Company BCI
Suggested Retail Price $59.99
Release Date January 1993
Memory Size 2 Megabits + 64K
Game Type Third in the Lord British RPG series.

Lord British has vanished in the underworld and the shadowlords have been corrupting the land. This Battary Pak involves you in the struggle to regain Britannia along with your trusted allies. Real-time battles and exploration in a vast world will keep most gamers involved for up to 80 hours.

■ Character selection includes answering questions to determine your strengths and weaknesses—very realistic! By choosing topic headings, you can hold a conversation with characters. Expect a huge world with hundreds of characters and a good tale.

■ Control functions are not intuitive, which leads to frustrating delays in the game. For instance, to talk to someone requires three separate operations, which is too too many.

TINY TOON ADVENTURE 2: TROUBLE IN WACKYLAND

Company Konami
Suggested Retail Price Between $39-$49
Release Date February/March 1993
Memory Size 2 Megabits
Game Type One-player, cartoon-action game starring Toon characters.

Buster and his buddies are invited to the Wackyland Fun Park by a mysterious secret admirer. Actually, the park is full of troublesome traps. You get to play with many of the Tiny Toon characters in this game. Check out all the rides in this month's review.

■ Each of the five stages requires different skills and uses a different character. The stages have inventive play, such as Buster's ability to spin around in 360° on the roller coaster.

■ The graphics, especially the backgrounds and enemies, are a bit disappointing. As for the game play, it is not very forgiving. Three hits and you're out. Then you must start over at the beginning of the stage, which takes a long time.

ZEN: INTERGALACTIC NINJA

Company Konami
Suggested Retail Price Between $39-$49
Release Date February 1993
Memory Size 2 Megabits
Game Type Vertical and horizontal scrolling ninja action for one player.

The world can't long survive the menace of Lord Contaminous and his acid reign of terror. Nintendo Power shows you how to clean up in this issue.

■ Each stage has a different look and feel and requires new moves and strategies. You can choose any of the four main stages from a map, plus the option screen lets you choose difficulty level and number of lives up to four.

■ Some of the stages are quite repetitious. The Forest stage, for example, requires that you constantly go back and forth between the boss and the forest as you try to save the flowers from acid rain. Poor hit detection can be frustrating when you whack a baddie and it doesn't count.

EON MAN

Company Taito
 Suggested Retail Price Not Available
 Release Date February 1993
 Memory Size 1 Megabit
 Game Type Side-scrolling action for one player

Eon Man is from 60 years in the future, a Time Driver who has come back to protect a young man who will change the future for the better. In this game, the play is the thing, not the theme. See this month's top-filled review for more.

■ The action is reminiscent of Ninja Gaiden and quite challenging. Plentiful Power-Ups keep you going. The Ninja Arts Super Attack is great. Play control is sharp.

■ The original theme falls flat for having been done better by T2. Why does a time traveller have Ninja Arts?

BOMBERMAN 2

Company Hudson Soft
 Suggested Retail Price $39.95
 Release Date February 1993
 Memory Size 1 Megabit
 Game Type Action/puzzle

Bomberman must blast blocks and baddies to clear each maze stage. Although it sounds explosive, it's really a strategy game with a Pac Man look. Take a closer look at the Power reviews.

■ Bomberman 2 is easy to understand but still captivating.

■ The look of the stages is so similar that you might wonder if you've progressed.

P

A LOOK INTO THE GAMES OF THE FUTURE

PAK WATCH

MECH WARRIOR

ACTIVISION

In the future of FASA's Mech Warrior, battles are fought by enormous walking/flying machines called Mechs. A human pilot in the cockpit has awesome destructive power at his fingertips, but so do his opponents. Activision has taken these elements from the popular board and computer games to make its Super NES version. First off, there's the fighting. There are 16 missions on different planets, each with its own goals and strategies. As a mercenary Mech pilot, you will make a contract before each mission, and receive payment only if you succeed. Use that money to upgrade your Mech or buy a new one from eight basic Mech models. There's a story here, too. As in Wing Commander, you can get advice from people at the home base. That information can be used to track down the Dark Wing Lance who murdered your father. This Pak Watcher was impressed by how closely the action matched that of the Battle Tech center in Chicago, only with far greater variety and ease of play. The smooth scrolling and scaling effects and CAD drawn Mechs make all the difference. Mech Warrior should hit the stores by April.

STAR FOX

NINTENDO

Facing planets from hostile tyranny is serious business, but in Star Fox from Nintendo you'll see that it also can be fun. Fox McCloud and his band of mercenaries from the planet Cometa, take on the misad forces of the Empire in their one-seat star fighters. It will be interesting to see how these characters develop in the serialized comics, and if Nintendo makes further use of them in upcoming games. As for Star Fox game play, it is a showcase of the Super FX chip, which is what allows the fast scrolling and scaling effects of complex polygons on the screen. The first-person view, shooter action takes place in space and near the ground. It features a unique, multi-play path in which one path is for beginning players and the others are for advanced pilots. To truly appreciate the 3-D effects of this game, you have to see it in person.

SHADOWRUN

DATA EAST

Not all future adventures take place off-world. In Shadowrun from Data East, the place to be is Seattle where technology and magic come together in a nightmare vision of corporate greed and ancient powers. FASA's popular role playing game takes form on the Super NES as a strategy adventure. You are Jake, a man who has been left for dead in the morgue. As you explore and gather clues, you'll discover what happened to you, and what you have to do about it. The overhead, three quarter view may remind you of Equinox, but precision control is less of a factor in this game. More important is the discovery of weapons and information which you can gain from the enemies. The mix of RPG and adventure, plus a huge game world and an inventive story make Shadowrun an exciting title. Look for it this Spring.

WAYNE'S WORLD

T*HQ

First, make a movie, then sell the rights for someone to make a video game. Now, take a digitized image of your face and stick it on a video character body. Cool. Finally, add great sound, lots of digitized speech, Elvis impersonators and six tough stages of action and you've done it! The levels and bosses game play is nothing new, but it is sure to strike a chord with Wayne's Top Ten Video Game Fans, and more.

ACE HARDING: LOST IN LAS VEGAS KEMCO

When we last left Ace Harding, he was in Chicago having just solved the mystery of who killed Joey Siegel in the detective RPG, Deja Vu. Now Ace is in Vegas, in a bathroom (where else?) but he doesn't know how he got there, and you can bet he is up to his neck in it once again. Kemco went all out in this latest mystery to capture the feel of a gritty, Sam Spade yarn. Both the text and graphics add to the atmosphere, especially the text, which was rewritten here in the U.S. There's also a lot of humor, and more interaction with more characters. Fans of Deja Vu and Shadowgate will feel at home with the point-and-click interface as they search for clues. If you like a good whodunit, this game may be out by summer.

ALIEN³

ACCLAIM

Acclaim has put the final touches on Alien for the NES. In this version, unlike the Game Boy title, Ripley is viewed in side-scrolling action. She must search through huge mazes to find weapons capable of destroying the alien threat. Good play control, lots of attacking aliens, and some very complex stages make this game interesting even though it doesn't quite capture the desperate feeling of the movie.

ICE CHALLENGE

AMERICAN TECHNOS

Crash and the Boys from Street Challenge and River City Ransom are back for another sporting event, this time on the ice. The result is a simplified NES hockey game that is easy to master, but not very challenging. Although you can pick and position players, Ice Challenge doesn't have the inventiveness of Street Challenge that this Pak Watcher hoped to find. It might have been more fun if the Boys had been able to challenge Russian, Czech, or Canadian teams. Your best bet is to play this as a two-player game.

KID DRACULA

KONAMI

Kid Dracula from Konami isn't exactly the shadowy game of crypts, bats and pale Transylvanians that you might expect. The fact is, it is a light-hearted action game with big, comic style graphics. For instance, you can use six special powers as you progress through the eight stages. If you earn the Bat, you'll be able to fly, which is particularly useful in later stages. Other abilities include the power to walk on ceilings and the use of a boomerang-type weapon. After hopping and shooting your way through a castle, a forest, a volcano and other stages, you'll face the evil Garamoth. This one-player game should be available this Spring.

ADVENTURE ISLAND 2

HUDSON SOFT

Master Higgins has almost as many titles under his belt, or loincloth, as Mario. In this second Game Boy action game, you'll find him running, jumping and collecting items from eggs, just as before. Although there is nothing dramatically new in AI2, Hudson Soft has hit the mark again thanks to good play control and a simple but effective idea—make it easy and fun. For a greater challenge, Hudson is also working on Mico's Secret Castle for Game Boy, which is said to be even tougher than the NES game. We'll let you know as soon as we scam a demo. For the Super NES, Hudson is promising Battle Grand Prix—a racing game.

GREAT GREED

NAMCO

You could say that Great Greed from Namco is the first environmentally conscious RPG, and you'd be right, but you'd also miss the point. This massive 2 megabit Pak (as big as Metroid II) has all the elements of a Final Fantasy or Dragon Warrior game—exploration, combat, tons of items, parties of multiple characters, and earned experience.

The text gets a bit toxic, but if you can get beyond that, there's enough game play here to keep an RPG fanatic happy for many hours of environmentally responsible fun.

PAK WATCH UPDATE

Over the past month, the Pak Watch desk has been getting crowded with sample games for all three Nintendo systems, so it's time for a little pre-Spring cleaning, starting with the Super NES.

Activision is working on Alien vs. Predator for the Super NES. The early version pictured here features big characters and some great weapons, including the Predator's invisibility device and razor disk. The storyline of the game is original and not borrowed from the Dark Horse comics series of the same name. The game should be available by this Summer. Hi Tech has put together a sharp 16-bit version of Where In Time Is Carmen Sandiego. The interface is similar to the NES title, but the world of clues looks much better in Super NES graphics. Also getting up to speed is Rock & Roll Racing from Interplay. Your Pak Watchers took a sneak preview of an early version of this overhead, futuristic racer. Although it started out looking like RC Pro-Am, the later stages had a wide variety of courses (some in outer space) with outrageously cool vehicles. The music on this Pak is being programmed by Software Creations, the developers of Acclaim's Spider-Man and the X-Men In Arcade's Revenge. Claymates, a multi-character scrolling game featuring claymation graphics and speedy play, should appear this Spring and will be followed up by a second claymation title that Interplay says is "completely unlike Claymates," whatever that means. Interplay is also working on a Lord Of The Rings game that includes digitized film from the 1970's Ralph Bakshi movie that used the rotoscope animation method. Sources at Interplay told Pak Watch that, unlike the movie, the game will follow hobbit-hero Frodo Baggins all the way to Mordor and the Crack of Doom. Speaking of doom, Doomsday Warrior is the first planned release from Renovation to be followed closely with a sci-fi adventure, Dream Probe: Doomsday

Alien Vs. Predator

Warrior features seven characters in street-fighting type action, but with a plot and cinema scenes. In Dream Probe, a six-level action game, you must enter the mind of a girl who is trapped in a nightmare. There is also an element of adventure to the game because you must find special weapons to succeed. Outlander from Mindspace puts you in the driver's seat of a post-holocaust nightmare. This racing action game also has a story, but the real action is behind the wheel. The Love Mission from Vic Tokai is said to be nearing completion at its British development house. It is an RPG with a time-travel theme. T*HQ is hard at work in the here-and-now with its Super NES Rev & Stunp title. Oh, happy happy! Joy joy!

While some licensees are developing sci-fi and fantasy, others are firmly planted in reality. Hudson Soft revealed that two as of yet untitled sports games were in their future, a volleyball game and an F1 racing game. They also have Super Bomberman, which features a four-player adapter—the first for the Super NES. Jaleco, famous for its Bases Loaded series, is turning to the ice with Pro Sport Hockey for both Super NES and NES. Super Strike Eagle from Microprose puts players at the controls of an F-15E combat fighter. This Pak Watcher was amazed by the realism of the dogfighting, but a little let down by the awkward bombing missions. There's more street-fighting action due in Ultimate Fighter from Culture Brain and

Super Strike Eagle

Jaleco's Brave Bros. Namco's Battle Cars is a racing action game in which players stock up on weapons to batter each other on the course. The long-awaited Terminator NBA Basketball is also on the way. It shares many of the features of the NES title reviewed previously in Nintendo Power, but with greatly improved graphics and sound.

On the 8-bit video game front, look for Duck Tales II from Capcom to be just as solid as the original. FCI has two new offerings due this Spring, Hilltopia, which is an interesting blend of RPG and action, and Break Time, a pool game. Ocean continues to develop Hollywood licenses for the NES and Super NES. The next releases should be in early Spring with Lethal Weapon and Cool World. For Game Boy, one of the biggest licenses of them all has been grabbed by Ubi Soft. Both Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade and Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom are in development for release later this Summer. Ubi Soft may also produce NES versions of both games. In other Game Boy news, Legend of Zed from Vic Tokai promises to be a huge RPG while Top Rank Tennis from Nintendo is also planned to be released in the Spring. Finally, after going through a complete game play and graphics change, The Incurable Crash Test Dummies from Acclaim should be appearing soon for the NES.

Kellogg's[®] Is Playing With Power

Directions

All of these Kellogg's[®] cereals are making great Nintendo offers. See if you can match them up.
Hint: In each set of clues, the first sentence refers to the cereal, the second to the offer.

Clues

Here's something to crow about.
You'll never be late again.

Reverse the two words in its name and it's something else.
Now it's nobody else's game but yours.

One side has something the other doesn't.
You can look Jefferson and Lincoln in the eyes.

Think red and shiny.
Then get the winning edge.

Part of it rhymes with fun.
Your room could use a lot of that.

It's twice as noisy.
You can play wherever you go.
How's this from your favorite "bran" of cereal?
 $(2 \times 5 \times 14) / 4 =$ The bucks you can save.
